Alderman Marchand Urges Immediate Action on the Erection of New High School

Head of Public Buildings Department Says He Is Ready To Start Work on New School Tomorrow Morning —G.A.R. Veterans Want More Convenient Meeting Place—$100,000 Paving Loan Rescinded

Representatives of the G.A.R. posts of this city and of the Sons of Veterans appeared before the municipal council at its regular meeting this morning to ask that a more convenient place of assembly for the veterans be provided than is now on hand. It was stated that the building which the veterans have to do to get into Memorial hall or the halls of the other posts had resulted in practically no use of the old soldiers being unable to meet their comrades. No suggestion was offered as to where the veterans could meet, but it was advocated that a hall be built for the purpose. The council expressed its sympathy for the veterans and agreed to take up the matter at its next meeting.

G.A.R. spoke along the same lines as Mr. Derby. Mr. Pevey called attention to the fact that the city government of 1862 had promised recruits to the army, that it would do all it could for them upon their return. He would like to have the present government carry out that promise.

In answer to a question of Mayor Thompson as to whether the veterans had any particular place in mind, Mr. Derby said that they did not. It was finally agreed that the veterans should appoint a committee to bring in definite suggestions. Before this decision was reached, the council gave its unanimous approval to the idea that a central place be obtained for the veterans until a new auditorium is built.

Mayor Thompson expressed his willingness to endorse a bill soon to come before the legislature giving preference in civil service activities to veterans of any of the wars in which this country has participated. A resolution giving this endorsement was unanimously passed by the council.

The petition of James J. Norton that he be allowed to move a two and a half story wooden building from 126-128 Powell street to 36-38 Wallis street was read and Mr. Norton explained that by the removal of the building he would be able to erect a factory employing from 35 to 40 men. He urged haste in the granting of the petition. It was finally voted to hold a hearing on the matter March 25 at 10 o'clock.

Hearings were held on the following petitions and as nobody appeared in favor of them or as remonstrants, they were referred to the commissioner of water works and fire protection.

Sawyer Carriage Co., garage and gasoline, 11 Howard street; Sawyer Carriage Co., garage and gasoline, Middlesex place; Pitts' Auto Supply, Hurd street, gasoline; Hardman & Edwards, 38 Howard street, garage and gasoline.

A claim from Amedeo Archambault for damage to automobile in Central street on March 6 was referred to the mayor and city solicitor.

A petition from Lillie E. Watt for a garage at 68 Branch street was held over for a hearing on April 1.

The petition of M. Mullane et al. that Asavum street extension be macadamized was referred to Commissioner Murphy.

The petition of Arthur Genest et al. that Phoebe avenue be accepted and under sidewalks laid was likewise referred to Commissioner Murphy.

Leave to Withdraw

Upon recommendation of the city solicitor leave to withdraw was given the following petitioners: George McCafferty, Bridget Mahan and Arthur Buchanan.

An order proposed by Commissioner Murphy to change a portion of the southern line of Andover street and westerly line of Wentworth avenue so that both streets might be widened at their intersection was adopted. It was explained that land for such changes had been given the city by the Butler heirs.

James J. Kerwin Paid

It was voted to pay the sum of $374.50 to James J. Kerwin for services rendered the so-called high school commission in the matter of determining the legal status of the commission. The order was introduced by Commissioner Morse. Mayor Thompson explained that he had opposed it when it came before the council last year inasmuch as the city solicitor had given no written statement as to the advisability of paying the bill. However, he had later been informed by council that the commission retained its status as a commission until it was declared illegal and that Mr. Kerwin was entitled to his money.

Commissioner Morse reported favorably on the petition of W. B. Harwood for permission to store gasoline at 491 Merrimack street and it was voted to grant the proper license.

Rescinded $100,000 Order

Mayor Thompson moved that the order providing for the borrowing of $100,000 for street paving which was passed last Tuesday's meeting of the council be rescinded. It was so voted unanimously.

Commissioner Murphy then introduced an order providing for the borrowing of $35,000 for paving, the loan to be on a 10-year basis. It was passed unanimously.

It was then voted to borrow $15,000 for macadam on a five-year basis. This order was likewise introduced by Mr. Murphy and passed unanimously.

Commissioner Marchand was empowered to enter into a contract for the installation of floor drains in the Palmer street fire station at a cost of $200.

The council approved the contract which Mr. Marchand had entered into with John F. Gallagher providing for the installation of electrical fixtures in the Bartlett school. The amount involved was $1185.

New "Booster" Pump

Commissioner Morse asked that his requisition of the purchasing agent for a new centrifugal or "booster" pump to clean sand at the filtration plant of the water department be approved.

The cost of the pump will be not more than $1005. All necessary fixtures are now on hand. Supt. Robert R. Thomas of the water department said that the pump was an urgent necessity and it was voted to approve the requisition.

The petition of M. A. Charbonneau et al. that the land over the water main in Sarah avenue be opened as a public highway, was given leave to withdraw. Two hearings on the petition had been held and this morning Supt. Thomas explained that the opening of the land as a street would involve the possibility of an accident to the water main which would be expensive and dangerous. Commissioner Marchand voted no when the motion was put.

Start New High School

Commissioner Marchand said that he felt something should be done regarding the erection of a new high school. He is being besieged for work every day. He said that the city had $30,000 worth of steel ready for the new building. $12,000 had been spent to draw up plans, and the land was ready for the building. By permission of the legislature the city can still borrow $427,000 for the project. As far as he was concerned, he said, he would be ready to call for bids for work on the foundation of the building tomorrow morning.

Mayor Thompson said that he favored all expediency possible but that he felt the matter should be given a little consideration. He believed the school committee should have a say in the proposition. He doubted whether the money which Commissioner Marchand referred to could be spent inasmuch as the high school commission had been declared illegal. Mr. Marchand maintained that it could be spent.

The commissioner moved that the school board be invited to attend the next meeting of the council to discuss plans for the school. Mayor Thompson thought that the convenience of the school board members should be first consulted and Mr. Marchand thereupon withdrew his motion.

It was voted to instruct the city clerk to forward the report of the superintendent of police on the petition of the Athenian Mercantile association for incorporation to the secretary of the commonwealth.

The council adjourned at 11:10 until next Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock. Monthly bills were later approved.

BRAND KAISER ARCHCRIMINAL

Solemn Declaration of All Nations Assembled at Peace Conference

Even His Own Country May Be Called Upon To Subscribe to Decision

PARIS, Monday, March 10.—It will be the fate of former Emperor William to be branded for all time as an archcriminal by the solemn declaration of all the nations assembled at the peace conference, to which even his own country may be called upon to subscribe to the present plans of what is believed to be a majority of the commission on responsibility for the war.

The report of this commission will be ready within a few days, and the indications are that the members are unanimous on the main points. There are likely to be differences, however, regarding subordinate German officials, although at present a majority of the commission is understood to hold that they can be punished for orders given or acts permitted by them in violation of the national laws of Germany or the rules of war. Such a rule would apply to the officer who executed Captain Fryatt, but not to the executor of Edith Cavell, who, it is pointed out, might have been technically guilty of espionage. No doubt is felt as to the liability to punishment of a German officer taken prisoner of war and found guilty of atrocities.

LODGE AND LOWELL TO DEBATE MARCH 19

BOSTON, March 1.—Senator Henry Cabot Lodge and Pres. A. Lawrence Lowell of Harvard university will hold their joint debate on the League of Nations on Wednesday evening, March 19, at Symphony hall. This announcement was made yesterday afternoon at the close of a meeting of the overseers of Harvard. Gov. Calvin Coolidge will be asked to preside.

Pres. Lowell and Mr. Lodge met yesterday afternoon and made tentative arrangements for the debate. Admission is to be by ticket, the method of distribution to be announced later. Symphony hall will seat 2500.

HORSES FOR SALE
Commissioner Morse of the water works department will soon dispose of two horses of that department inasmuch as they are eating their heads off and not doing a great deal of work. He does not consider them necessary. If they are sold there will remain but three horses in the department.

CARD OF THANKS
We, the undersigned, take this means of expressing our heartfelt thanks to all our relatives and friends who kindly assisted us in the hour of our bereavement at the death of Mrs. Arthur Peabody. We also wish to thank all those who sent spiritual and floral offerings. To each and all we are deeply grateful and will ever remember their kindness.

Germany Stripped of Power to Make War in New Terms Adopted by Council

Burglar Arrested in Dracut Store Early This Morning

"I fired three shots at him and if the three had taken effect I would not be sorry. A man who commits robbery takes his life in his own hands."

This was the statement of a plucky woman to a Sun reporter today. The woman was Mrs. Mabel Peabody of Dracut and her statement had to do with a recent burglary. Mrs. Peabody conducts a variety store in Bridge street, Centre village, and when she said she fired three shots at him, she meant Fred Cole, whose rather sensational arrest occurred in Dracut early this morning.

The shooting dates back a couple of weeks when a burglar entered her store and got away with $36 in cash and cigars and tobacco to the value of $35. The burglary was committed in the night-time and since then Mrs. Peabody has slept in the store, armed and ready to deal with burglars at a moment's notice.

A few nights later she was aroused from what was not a very deep slumber, for she said she slept with one eye and both ears open, by a noise at one of the windows and later she saw a man try to pry open the window. She never moved, but laid a firm hand on the gun that she had with her, and as the burglar was about to enter the

Voluntary System To Raise Army of 100,000—Peace Draft March 20

PARIS, Monday, March 10 (3.10 p. m.).—Military Germany will go out of existence, the result of the adoption by the supreme council tonight of the military terms of German disarmament as they will go into the peace treaty. These terms provide for a reduction of the military establishment to 100,000 men with 4000 officers, the army to be recruited by the voluntary system for 12 years. The effect of this is to limit Germany's military strength for the next 12 years to less than the number of men Switzerland has in her army.

Destroy Forts Along Rhine

Other provisions in the military terms limit the arms and munitions Germany may possess to a quantity sufficient for 100,000 men. All the remainder must be delivered or destroyed. The German forts along the Rhine also must be destroyed. The imperial general staff is abolished.

CAN HIRE CHAIRS FOR FUNERALS NOW

The board of health held a brief routine meeting last evening and the only matter of importance to come up was the revocation of the ruling made by the board last fall at the time of the influenza epidemic prohibiting undertakers from providing chairs at the homes of deceased persons. It is felt that this precaution is no longer necessary.

TO IMPROVE FILTRATION GROUNDS

Commissioner Morse is planning to improve the appearance of the filtration plant environs on the boulevard as much as possible. He has already substituted concrete steps for the wooden ones formerly there and hopes to have a flower garden at the entrance to the building next summer.

Pershing Designates Ships To Bring 26th Division Home

WASHINGTON, March 11.—General Pershing, chief of the war department today that the 26th (New England National Guard) Division, would embark from Brest for Boston, in the first half of April, aboard the following transports: Agamemnon, Mount Vernon, America, Von Steuben, Kronprinz, George Washington and President Grant.

The announcement does not change previous statements as to the time when this division will begin to move homeward, but does fix definitely the ships to be used and probably establishes for embarkation of the units the time that will be required to bring the entire division to Boston, where it is anticipated a "great reception" will be accorded the troops and a divisional parade be arranged. The process is similar to that followed in the case of the 27th (New York National Guard) Division, a large portion of which has already reached the camps around New York.

The only division in addition to these two which it is expected will be paraded as a unit on its return is the 42nd (Rainbow) Division, which is tentatively scheduled to be reviewed in Washington.

German Naval Men Seize Yacht For Fishing Trip—Disorders Along Rhine

GENEVA, Monday, March 10.—Former King William of Wurtemberg had a narrow escape from drowning today during a scuffle when a party of German sailors from Kiel seized his yacht on Lake Constance to use it for fishing. Disorders along the Rhine towns not under allied occupations are continuing. The German and Austrian consuls have been withdrawn from the Lake Constance territory because of the hostile attitude of the peasantry.

Soldier Returns After Remarkable Experience—Married in Belgium in 1914

Captured by Huns, Fled to U. S., Enlisted, Went Over and Found Wife in Brest

NEW YORK, March 11.—Sergeant Fidele Benoo of Rochester, N. Y., returned from France today on the Mount Vernon with his bride, a Belgian girl, whom he married while serving with the Belgian army at the outbreak of the war. They were both taken prisoner, but he escaped to Holland, came to the United States, enlisted in the 102nd ammunition train, and went to France with that unit. Three days before embarking for home, he met his wife, whom he had not seen or heard from in three years, in the streets of Brest and obtained a permit for her to accompany him on the transport.

CONFERENCE ON AERIAL NAVIGATION POSTPONED

PARIS, March 11.—(By The Associated Press)—Like the international wireless conference which opened here several weeks ago, a similar gathering which was intended to deal with problems relating to aerial navigation has been compelled to postpone its work indefinitely after perfecting its organization.

More suggestions of the extensive plans which were to be considered developed the fact that most nations might be obliged to make wholly unexpected changes in their fundamental laws if they participated in decisions. This necessitated the reference of many problems to home governments.

The air conference was to be merely a French and possibly a British affair, but the appearance in Paris of accredited delegates of many other nations made it necessary to hold another conference at a later date. The delegates to the peace conference were quick to see that what amounted to a council of nations was being brought into the decisions of the conference and lost no time in demanding that their nations be represented.

The first inter-allied medical aeronautical congress opened here yesterday, its object being to promote the study of medical problems arising from aviation. Resolutions dealing with physical and psychological tests applicable to candidates for pilot's licenses, the control of flights to high altitudes and the use of oxygen by aviators were presented, and the hope was expressed that these resolutions would be taken into account when an international aerial code was drafted. It was decided to form a permanent committee to present the views of the medical profession in matters pertaining to aviation. Prof. Guillemin of the University of Paris was elected president.

The United States is represented at the congress by Dr. L. G. Rowntree of Minneapolis.

HOME GARDENERS BRUSHING UP

The open weather of the past few weeks has caused thousands of Lowell peace gardeners to turn their thoughts to seeds, fertilizers and all of the various paraphernalia necessary for the ambitious back yard farmer and farmette, and from present indications the peace gardens of 1919 promise to far outstrip any ambitions of the wartime year just passed.

Garden gossip is being heard on all sides. Neighbors who meet mornings in the suburban and outlying districts of the city are heard to remark: "Good weather for potatoes. Looks like it's about time to get that garden plowed" and so on.

There are some pretty ambitious plans being outlined in Lowell homes just now, and if all the hopes and ambitions are realized there will be many collars heaped full and overflowing.

Famous Old Recipe for Cough Syrup

Easily and cheaply made at home, but it beats them all for quick results.

Thousands of housewives have found that they can save time and money usually spent for cough preparations, by using this well-known old recipe for making cough syrup at home. It is simple and cheap to make, but it really has no equal for prompt results. It takes right hold of a cough and gives immediate relief, usually stopping an ordinary cough in 24 hours or less.

Get 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex from any drugstore, pour it into a pint bottle, and add plain granulated sugar syrup to make a full pint. If you prefer, use clarified molasses, honey or corn syrup instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, keeps perfectly, and lasts a fairly long time.

It's truly astonishing how quickly it acts, penetrating through every air passage of the throat and lungs, and raising the phlegm, soothes and heals the membranes, and gradually but surely the annoying throat tickle and dreaded cough disappear entirely. Nothing better for bronchitis, spasmodic croup, whooping cough or bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, known the world over for its healing effect on the membranes.

Avoid disappointment by asking your druggist for 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex with full directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

CHICAGO HOTEL FIRE

250 Men and Women Assisted Down Fire Escapes—Many Fainted

CHICAGO, March 11.—Half a dozen women fainted, as many others were overcome by smoke and these with nearly 250 men and women employees of the Morrison hotel were assisted down fire escapes early today during a fire in a five-story brick annex to the hotel, which is used as a dormitory for the employees. Those overcome by smoke were carried into the hotel drug store and were soon revived.

Guests of the hotel, located at the southeast corner of Clark and Madison streets, were aroused and notified to leave the structure, as a precautionary measure. The fire did not reach the hotel proper, however, being confined to the annex on the Clark street side. The fourth and fifth floors were burned before the blaze was brought under control. The damage was estimated at $50,000.

There were 1500 guests in the hotel, of whom about 500 left the building.

A report that two maids were missing led to a search of the burned annex as soon as firemen could enter the structure, but no bodies were found.

would have given Germany a trained army of two million men in 10 years.

Council Cuts Foch's Figure

As against this Mr. Lloyd George proposed to fix the enlistment term at 13 years. Marshal Foch embodied this in his report, which proposed an army of 140,000 men, but the council finally adopted an amendment reducing this figure to 100,000.

To End Conscription

One of Premier Lloyd George's main purposes in substituting voluntary service for the conscription system was to pave the way for the disappearance of the conscription system throughout Europe, as it was believed that the effect of the abolition of the system in Germany would be that the other European countries would generally follow it, thus ending the menace of large standing armies and their provocation to warfare.

Naval Terms Already Adopted

The council has already adopted the naval terms of the treaty, except for a few reserved provisions, which will be discussed tomorrow.

The progress that has been made with the work of framing the peace treaty ensures the completion of the task by March 20. The first rough draft will be in readiness when President Wilson arrives in France on Thursday, and the revision will be concluded before the 20th. It is the present purpose of the peace conference to call the Germans to Versailles soon after March 20, probably from March 22 to March 25. The document then will be delivered to the German delegates and in case they are not prepared to sign it at once, they will be given the opportunity to return to Germany to consider it and return for the formal signing at Versailles.

This plan obviates the necessity of holding sessions for debate at Versailles and restricts the functions to be conducted with the Germans to the delivery of the document and their return for its signature or such other action as they desire to take.

It is known definitely that Count von Bernstorff, formerly German ambassador to the United States, will not be one of the German delegates at Versailles.

DON'T FORGET BOOKS FOR SOLDIERS

A message of commendation from the headquarters of the A.L.A. war service, Boston, has just been received by Librarian Chase of the Lowell public library, for the way the latter has handled the books for the soldiers' campaign in Lowell. Dr. C. O. S. Mason, head of the war service, mentions the latest appeal for books in The Sun, and tells Librarian Chase to keep on with his successful campaign.

Two hundred books will be sent to Boston at the end of this week, if possible, for the entertainment of the boys over there. Any magazine, not more than six months old, and all recent books of fiction, are especially desirable. The rapid response to the recent appeal has been very gratifying to the Boston office, and also to Mr. Chase, and if the people of Lowell will continue to bear in mind the needs of the soldiers overseas Mr. Chase believes that Lowell will be found to have done its share and then some when the boys have all come back and the reports of the different cities are totaled up for final reckoning.

When the book shelves are gone over this spring it is the hope of the A.L.A. war service that all fiction that will not be read will be saved and taken to the public library. These extra books will be forwarded to Boston and sent across the sea to keep the boys in khaki and blue cheerful and contented while they are waiting for that most welcome order of all—"Homeward Bound."

court this morning on a complaint charging him with the larceny of valves and pipe fittings valued at about $100 from the Wilson English Construction company, and tomorrow morning, with the aid of an interpreter, it is expected that he will be able to go a little further into the matter of "what the feller said" to him than was possible today. As an incentive to defendant's appearance at this time bail was set at $500, and a plea of not guilty entered by the clerk.

An Obstreperous Passenger
Vorne Gillman was charged with drunkenness, and on another complaint with assault and battery on Roy L. Emery and also with creating a disturbance in a public conveyance.

Emery, who is a motorman on the Highland line of the Bay State railway, testified that defendant was riding in from Dracut on his car about 10.30 last evening, and that his language was so profane that he was escorted to the door. This did not meet with Gillman's approval, and he showed his indignation by tearing the motorman's sweater and afterwards pushing his strong right arm through the glass panel in the rear door of the car. An officer happened along about this time and Gillman was taken to the station.

Gillman's alibi was the old familiar excuse that "he was so drunk he couldn't remember anything about it."

He was found guilty by Judge Knight and ordered to pay a fine of $15 and also to make restitution for the damage to Emery's clothing.

Sent to Reformatory
Adelard Rochette, a Lowell young man who has been identified with several of the recent breaks throughout the city, was called on continuance on several charges of breaking, entering and larceny, and was given a direct sentence to the Massachusetts reformatory.

Other Offenders
Entombed Disease was called on a complaint made by his wife to the effect that he has failed persistently to do his bit in the way of providing for his family's support. Defendant agreed to kick in with $5 a week from now on, and with this understanding he was placed on probation for the court.

Several members of the anti-temperance battalion drew down suspended sentences, and the probation officer issued free passes to five first timers.

Communists Routed in Battle at Budapest
BASTIE, Monday, March 10.—Communists attacked the parliament house at Budapest on Saturday night, according to a despatch received by the Basle Nachrichten. Several banks and government buildings were under attack but government troops defeated the communists and drove them out of the city.

Burglar Arrested in Dracut

store she fired point blank at him, but missed him. The burglar, realizing, no doubt, that he was in a danger zone, "beat it" for all he was worth and was soon out of sight, despite the fact that Mrs. Peabody lost no time in reaching the street.

Yesterday afternoon a neighbor saw two suspicious characters in the vicinity of the store and she notified the storekeeper. Not wishing to take any chances with two men, Mrs. Peabody in turn notified Officer Clinton Coffin, who planned to spend the night at the store with Officer William Lavell and the two officers, well armed, called at the store at 10.30 o'clock last evening and at 11 o'clock when the place was closed for the night they requested Mrs. Peabody to go to her home, but she declined, saying she might be of some assistance to the officers and she went to her improvised "bed" under the counter opposite the window which had been visited on two previous occasions.

Walked Right In

The trio waited patiently for something to turn up and they were finally rewarded, for shortly before 1 o'clock this morning the footstep of a man was heard in the rear of the building. Pretty soon a tap was heard in the rear window and later the store door was opened with a skeleton key and a young man wended his way to the cash drawer in the rear of the store. The intruder walked cautiously and held his right hand in his coat pocket. The two officers and Mrs. Peabody stopped breathing for a second for fear of being detected, and just as the visitor was about to lay his left hand on the cash drawer, for he held his right hand in his coat pocket, Officer Coffin pounced on him and flashing a revolver in his face, ordered him to "throw up his hands." At that very same moment Officer Lavell turned on the light and the burglar obeyed the command. Officer Coffin quickly placed his hand in the intruder's pocket and pulled out a 22-calibre revolver fully loaded. The prisoner was handcuffed and taken to the station.

When questioned at the station he gave his name as Fred Cote and said he made his home at 168 Suffolk street, this city. In his pockets were found five cartridges, a screw driver, a small hammer, a flashlight, a bunch of keys, a large jackknife and a pair of cotton gloves as well as about a half-dozen cigars and some candy. The young man was booked at the station and later the two Dracut officers in company with Patrolman Adelard Cossette visited his home at 168 Suffolk street, where the following articles were found: An automatic revolver, a 22-calibre revolver, three fountain pens, six knives, a safety razor, several pieces of shaving soap and razor blades as well as other articles, including a large box filled with one and two-cent postage stamps. There were also two soldiers' uniforms, one of which marked "A. Dufoe."

Several of the articles found in Cote's room were later identified by Charles Sharf as his property. Mr. Sharf informed the police that the articles were taken from his store in School street when the place was broken into a few weeks ago.

Cote was arraigned in police court this morning and when asked to plead to a charge of carrying a dangerous weapon and also of breaking and entering the store of Mrs. Mabel Peabody in Dracut during the night with attempt to commit larceny, he admitted his guilt and his case was continued for a week, bail being fixed at $1200. Later he was taken to a local photographer, where his picture was taken and then he was finger printed.

THE NEW REVENUE BILL

Liberal Deductions For Business Expenses Are Allowed by New Bill

"Liberal deductions for business expenses are allowed by the new revenue bill," said Collector of Internal Revenue John P. Malley during an interview with this paper.

"Business expenses" are the amounts actually paid or incurred during the tax year in the conduct of a business, trade or profession. In computing net income a merchant may find his profits on the following basis:

First ascertain the gross sales and the other items of gross income, such as interest on bank balances and miscellaneous items. Then add together the inventory at the beginning of the year and the cost of goods purchased for resale. From this sum subtract the inventory at the end of the year, and the result is the cost of goods sold. This cost, plus necessary business expenses is to be deducted from the gross sales and other income, and the result is the net income of the business.

If the taxpayer's accounts are kept on a receipts and payments basis, the return may be made in accordance therewith.

A merchant may claim as deductions the amount paid for advertising, hire of clerks and other employees, the cost of light and fuel, water, telephone, etc., used in his place of business, the cost of operating delivery wagons, motor trucks and incidental repairs to such vehicles.

Amounts expended in entertaining an out-of-town customer may be deducted if the sole purpose is to cultivate the good will of the customer and obtain a business in trade.

A physician may claim as deductions the cost of medicines and medical supplies used by him in his practice, a reasonable proportion of the expenses paid in the maintenance and repair of an automobile used in making professional calls, the expenses of attending medical conventions, dues to medical societies and subscriptions to medical journals, the rent for office rooms, the cost of heat, water, telephone, etc., used in such office rooms and the hire of office assistants. If his office is a rented home, he may claim as a deduction that proportion of the rent properly chargeable to the rooms used for professional purposes. The same deductions are allowed a dentist.

The farmer may deduct all amounts paid in preparing his land for a crop, and the cultivation, harvesting and marketing of the crop. The cost of seed and fertilizer used and amounts spent in caring for live stock are deductible items. The cost of minor repairs to farm buildings, other than the dwellings, and of fences, farm machinery and wagons may be claimed, also the cost of farm tools which are used upon the course of a year or two and of materials for immediate use, such as blading twine, stock powders, etc. The cost of machinery of a permanent character, such as a threshing machine or tractor is held to be a capital investment, and is not allowable deduction. Deduction may be made for rent paid for a farm.

This, in a general way, outlines the ordinary expenses incurred by a merchant, professional man or farmer, and the principle underlying these allowances is equally applicable in the conduct of any trade, business or profession. In short, all expenses connected directly and solely with the conduct of an income-producing business, trade, profession or vocation are allowable.

BLANCHETTE HELD FOR GRAND JURY

In the arrest of Lucien Blanchette, a young man residing in Crawford st. which occurred a couple of days ago, the police believe they have arrested the last of a gang of young men, who were responsible for a number of breaks in this city and Lawrence. Blanchette was arrested by local officers with the assistance of Lawrence officers and he was immediately taken to the downriver city on complaints charging him with breaking and entering and larceny and is now being held for the grand jury of Essex county.

Blanchette, it is believed was connected with Alfred Harnois and Conrad Christian, who were arrested some time ago for the Lawrence police. In numerous breaks which were committed in this city and Lawrence, it is claimed that some time ago the three entered a house in Worthen st. and stole Liberty bonds and war savings stamps amounting to several hundred dollars and later they entered a couple of jewelry stores, and made their escape with considerable jewelry. The booty, so it is claimed, was stored in a room in Appleton street and while Christian and Harnois were away from the room, it is claimed Blanchette entered the apartment and took away with him the bag containing the booty.

The police allege that the Liberty bonds and war savings stamps were destroyed, but inasmuch as they were registered, the owners will recover from the federal government. The remainder of the booty was stored away in the cabinet of a talking machine in Blanchette's home, where it was recovered by Inspector Breault and Lawrence police officers. The police believe that among the goods recovered are some that were stolen from a house in Carlton street several weeks ago, where Liberty bonds and pieces of silverware were taken.

Your Other Brain

Down in the abdominal cavity lies a great "plexus" or network of nerve centres, that has been called the "abdominal-brain." It cannot think. Its functions are to superintend and keep in operation various mechanical processes, such as the proper secretion of moisture by intestinal glands and adequate action of intestinal muscles in the walls of the bowels.

It receives messages from nerves in various regions of the body, but being unable to reason, it often acts blindly, imperfectly, or improperly. It may stop secretion, lessen muscular action—and the result is constipation.

Castor oil, pills, salts, mineral waters, etc., do not reason with the abdominal brain, they force it to temporary action, to unnatural effort, until the bowels move. But this is followed by a sulky attitude or even a "strike" by your other brain, and the constipation is increased not cured.

90% of human illness results from self-poisoning, caused by constipation.

But Nujol acts differently. Nujol is not a drug, does not act like any drug.

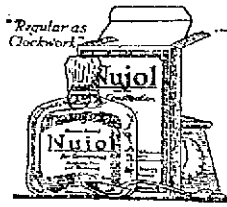

Nujol acts mechanically to coax the bowels to move easily and thoroughly at regular intervals.

Nujol supplies necessary moisture to bowel contents, makes it easier for tired intestinal muscles to act, absorbs poisonous matter, overcomes stagnation and by so doing persuades the abdominal brain to act rationally and efficiently. Nujol has no deleterious after effects, forms good habits instead of bad ones, overcomes constipation at any age, under any conditions.

Get a bottle of Nujol from your druggist today and send coupon for free booklet—"Thirty Feet of Danger."

BETTER PACKING AND MARKING

That the campaign for better packing and marking of express shipments has achieved concrete results was indicated by the reports made at the better service meeting of local express employees yesterday. Agent Langley announced that not only were packages being received in better condition for shipment, but that there was a noticeable falling off in number of consignments sent to the "No Mark" bureau of the express company.

Before the drive, at least 25,500 packages of all conceivable kinds and sizes, he said, were received by those "dead-letter" offices of the business, but already this figure has been cut in half and there was every reason to expect that it would be brought down to a negligible quantity.

"Four Minute" speeches urging the expressmen to live up to the new slogan of "better service," were a feature of the meeting, which is to be the last of the present campaign. The better service campaign committee formed among the local force and composed of J. H. Howe, D. F. Dilworth, E. W. Ellen, H. Forrest, L. F. Delaney, had an opportunity to tell their fellow workers what they had done during the campaign, and why they believed that the results of the co-operation extended to them by shippers would be far-reaching.

The purposes of the campaign, it was stated, will always be a dominant policy of the company in accepting business in the future. Proper packing and correct marking, Agent Langley declared, will always be required, when shipments are accepted by the express service for transportation. This, he added, would be to the interest of the shippers themselves, as well as to that of the express company.

It was intimated that the express workers will not be allowed to let their

SHIFT TO "WET" COLUMN

Seven Massachusetts Towns Fall Off Wagon—Weymouth Dry For 29 Years

BOSTON, March 11.—Liquor advocates maintained today that the continued shifting of smaller towns in this state from "dry" to "wet" was in the nature of a protest against the national prohibition amendment. Anti-liquor leaders, however, said that the change was mainly due to apathy on the part of the voters.

Returns from yesterday's voting

showed eight towns favoring legalizing the sale of liquor.

Three south shore towns, Weymouth and Hingham, which have been no license places for more than a quarter of a century, and Setauket with a dry record of 11 years, shifted to license. Easton, Rockland and Abington, also went "wet" following the example set by a number of other towns in the Old Colony district which voted a week ago. Other towns changing to license were Hudson and Ipswich.

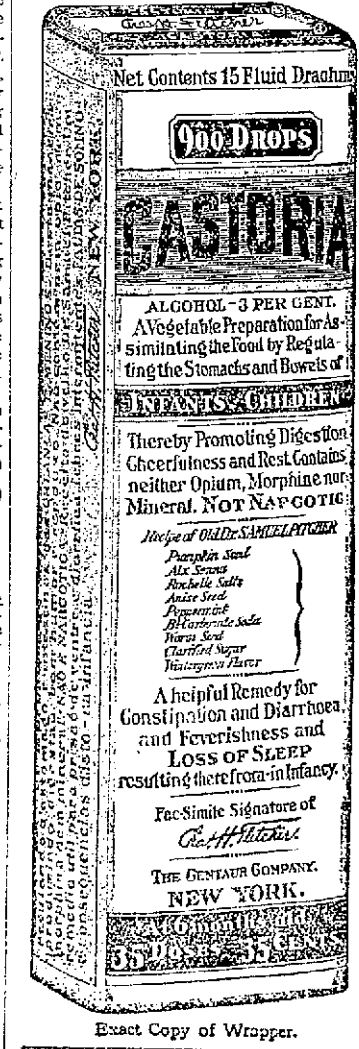

Three towns, Amesbury, Needham and Amherst, voted to remain dry.

UNION MADE

MOSCOW A "GRAVEYARD"

Typhus Adding to the Horrors of Hunger and Disorder There

PARIS, March 10.—(By the Associated Press)—Typhus is adding to the horrors of hunger and disorder in Moscow which the population has christened "the graveyard," according to a British business man who has just arrived in Paris from Russia. There are no disinfectants, medicines or soap. Hot water is scarce because of the shortage of fuel and the result is that the freezing and disheartened public is unable to protect itself.

Recently railway officials in Moscow ordered the crowd out of the central railway station in order to clean it and found the bodies of five victims of typhus which had been lying for days among the peasants sleeping on the floor. The undertakers are unable to meet the demands upon them and the bodies of typhus victims await burial for weeks.

The winter has been unusually cold in Moscow and there has been no heat in the houses. The non-Bolshevik population is so underfed that it has been unable to resist disease.

Upon the orders of the Soviet government the signs of all private concerns have been removed and virtually all the remaining stores have been nationalized but the stocks are so small that the clerks make little effort to serve the public. The shops open at 10 in the morning and close at 4 o'clock and by 6 o'clock the streets are dark and deserted.

The business man says that Russians of all classes are serving the Soviet government in order to protect their families and to secure food, but that the Russian red guards may frankly they will not fight for the Bolsheviks against organized forces from outside Russia.

When the Britisher left Moscow cat and dog meat were selling for five rubles a pound and horse meat was bringing 18 rubles a pound. Beef occasionally was sold secretly by the peasants for 28 rubles a pound. Butter, when available brought 150 rubles a pound. Sugar brought the same but was hard to get. Occasionally a little black flour sold in villages distant from Moscow and Petrograd for about $2 a pound. Ruble exchange fluctuated between six and 10 cents.

Lack of coal and oil and the dilapidation of the rolling stock, have retarded the number of street cars and railway trains so that there is great congestion at stations, resulting in the spread of disease. The railway trains are not heated and scores of passengers have frozen to death in Russia.

The business man visited Petrograd late in January and says that the situation there was worse than at Moscow. "I wish that people outside Russia who insist that the Russians in Soviet Russia should rise and overthrow the Bolsheviks could see the real situation," the Britisher concluded. "They would appreciate how impossible it is to upset Lenin and Trotsky. When armed robbers attack unarmed men, the latter have to surrender their purses." It is the same with the Bolsheviks because they have all the arms and ammunition.

"The scattered groups which have opposed the Bolsheviks did little more than commit suicide. In my opinion, starvation and misery will continue in Moscow and Petrograd until outside pressure forces a change, because the non-Bolsheviks in Soviet Russia are so starved and harassed that they have neither the heart nor the physical strength for effective opposition."

FOR "HOUSEWIVES" ASSOCIATION

A very interesting meeting of the Loomfitters' union was held last evening with President J. E. Jemery in the chair. In the course of the meeting routine business was transacted and President Jemery urged the members to interest their wives in the forming of a Housewives' association, the purpose of which would be to bring down the high cost of living. The scheme is that the housekeepers would patronize one or two storekeepers selling living commodities lower than other stores, which would tend to create competition among the retailers, the result of which would be foodstuffs at lower prices.

In explaining the scheme Mr. Jemery stated that it has been tried in Portland, Me., by carpenters, joiners and other organizations and has proven very successful. He said the working people of Portland simply boycotted the retailer who kept the high prices until he felt the pinch of reduced trade, and he said he believed there was a great opportunity for such an organization in Lowell.

Secretary John Hanley was present after an extended trip on organization throughout New Hampshire and Maine, and he reported conditions excellent everywhere. He said everybody is satisfied with the 48-hour week and everything is running along smoothly.

Other Meetings

Routine meetings were also held last evening by the Molders' union and the Brewery Bottlers' union.

THE LOWELL GUILD

The monthly meeting of the council of the Lowell Guild was held at the Guild House, Union street Monday morning, the president, Mrs. Edward N. Burke presiding. The supervisors, Mrs. Olson and Miss Pease reported a busy month of work with the following detailed account of the visits.

Total visits for February.....1365
Number of metropolitan visits.....824
Number of regular visits.....541
Number of baby clinics.....113
Number of babies at conferences.....49
Relief given, 129 quarts of milk, clothing, bedding and shoes.

Co-operating agencies: Lowell General Hospital, Lowell Corporation hospital, social service, social service department, Massachusetts General Hospital (social worker), Knights of Columbus, board of charities, board of health, Massachusetts Charitable Eye and Ear Infirmary and interested individuals.

The weekly conference for babies have been remarkably well attended and it is hoped in the near future to arrange for a second conference each week. The guild is asked to assume the functions of the child welfare commission as outlined by the council of national defense, which last year instituted the weighing campaign and other measures devised to conserve child-life, for although this was instituted as a war measure it is felt that it is of sufficient permanent value to have it continued and therefore the various nursing associations in the state are asked to "carry-on."

The president reported that it was expected that the waste campaign would be held in May and it is urgently hoped that the friends of the guild will save and collect during the house-cleaning season all useless material that can be collected later by means of this campaign for the benefit of the guild.

BILLERICA MURDER TRIAL HERE

The superior court has set the date of March 31 for the trial of Joseph Cordia and Francisco Feci, indicted for the murder of Fred Soules in Billerica on Oct. 31, 1918. The trial will take place in Lowell. Daniel J. Donahue and M. J. Rogers are counsel for Cordia, and Myer Sawyer of Boston for Feci.

At the afternoon session of the criminal court yesterday Felix Garneau, who had pleaded guilty of breaking and entering camps in Tyngsboro, was placed on probation, but in the case of Joseph Hasche, who was indicted on the same charge, the jury returned a verdict of guilty, and he was sentenced to the Massachusetts reformatory.

Francis P. Barrett, indicted on several counts of breaking, entering and larceny, pleaded guilty to two of the breaks, and received a six months' sentence to the Lowell jail on each of the two counts.

Stephen E. Shanley pleaded guilty on three counts of breaking and entering. The district attorney asked for sentence, but the counsel for Shanley pleaded for probation, claiming that he has been subject to bad influences in the city, and that he was soon to remove to Tewksbury with his family.

Judge Dubuque continued the case for three weeks and instructed the probation officer to report the case to the court at that time.

Charles F. Lannon pleaded guilty to breaking and entering and was placed on probation with the understanding that he is to enter the United States navy. William Rainville pleaded guilty to receiving stolen property and was fined $75.

The court sits in Cambridge today.

TO DEFEND YOUNG HERO

Capt. Joseph F. Gargan
Counsel For Plucky Fight-
er Who Deserted Navy

Private Cornelius F. Flske, the 18-year-old lad, from the Bronx of New York, who deserted the navy when he was but 17 years old to see real action with the Marine corps and who was wounded at St. Mihiel while serving with the 74th Co., 6th Regiment of "devil dogs" under command of Capt. Joseph F. Gargan of Lowell, will not be brought before a general court martial on the charge of desertion if the efforts of his gallant commander are of any avail and if the potency of legal training combined with a heartfelt admiration for his client, born of mutual service in the "big shows" "over there" are sufficient to enable the Lowell officer to

Restore the Youthful Beauty of Your Hair

You realize how much it means to your appearance. With what regret you find the first gray hairs—notice the streaky strands—the fading lustre. Must you say goodbye to beauty and attractiveness?

Not when there is so simple, harmless and practical a remedy to be found in

Qban

Hair Color Restorer

In less than a month it will restore the natural dark, youthful color and lustre to hair that is gray, faded or streaked with gray. Bring back the soft, luxuriant charm of girlhood days.

Absolutely not a dye and will not stain the scalp. Restores the color gradually and evenly by a perfectly natural process. Does not rub off or interfere with curling or shampooing the hair.

bring about leniency in the hearts of the higher-up navy officials.
Capt. Gargan showed an enviable record of accomplishment during the 17 months that he was on the firing line as a commanding officer of the United States Marines. And he is determined to bring forth at least one more accomplishment in a short while, if his determination as expressed to-day may be taken as a criterion.

The Kid Was Plucky
"That kid was a plucky a lad as you could want," Capt. Gargan said this morning, "and if there's anything I can do to make things easy for him I'm going to do it."
"He has been recommended for general court martial on the charge of deserting from the navy. I understand he enlisted about the time this country entered the war and made two voyages overseas on the President Grant. He had a twin brother in the Marines and this fellow used to write to him, telling of his experiences. On November 28, 1917 Flske landed in New York on the return from his second voyage. On December 3 he enlisted in the Marines and requested overseas service.

"He was assigned to a replacement battalion and sent down south for training. Eventually he got to France and landed in my company, the 7th Co., 6th Regiment. He stuck right with us through all the 'big shows'—Verdun, Belleau Wood, Chateau Thierry, Soissons, Tilt Tootoret and St. Mihiel.

Machine Gun Got Him
"It was at the latter place that he got his. He went over the top on the eleventh of September. Four days later when the Marines were about to make their fourth objective Flske was wounded by a machine gun bullet.

"He was sent to the hospital and stayed there only a short time. He was eager to get back to the front and

DRUGGISTS! VICK'S VAPORUB SHORTAGE OVERCOME AT LAST

The Deal Scheduled For Last November, Which Was Postponed on Account of the Influenza Epidemic, Is Now Reinstated—Good During the Month of March

OVER ONE MILLION JARS OF VAPORUB PRODUCED EACH WEEK

It is with pride that we announce to the drug trade that the shortage of Vick's Vaporub, which has lasted since last October, is now overcome. Since January 1st, we have been running our laboratory twenty-three and a half hours out of every twenty-four. Last week we shipped the last of our back orders, and retail druggists, therefore, are no longer requested to order in small quantities only.

NOVEMBER DEAL RE-INSTATED
This deal, which we had expected to put on last November and which had to be postponed on account of the shortage of Vaporub, is re-instated for the month of March. This allows a discount of 10% on shipments from jobbers' stock of orders of from 1 to a gross. 5% of this discount is allowed by the jobber and 5% by us. We advise the retail druggists to place their orders immediately so that the jobbers will be able to get prompt shipments to them.

THANKS OF THE PUBLIC DUE THE DRUG TRADE DURING THE INFLUENZA EPIDEMIC

The thanks of the American public are certainly due the entire drug trade—retail, wholesale and manufacturing—for what they accomplished during the recent influenza epidemic. The war caused a shortage of phy-

During the influenza epidemic, Vick's Vaporub was used as an external application in connection with the physician's treatment, and thousands of people, unable to obtain a doctor, relied on Vick's almost exclusively.

Literally millions of families all over the country, from California to Maine, and from the Great Lakes to the Gulf of Mexico, have found Vick's Vaporub the ideal home remedy for croup and cold troubles.

Without orders jumped on a truck and went back to the line.

"You've got to hand it to that kid for courage. He was always the first to volunteer for patrol duty in raiding parties.

"Before he got much more action the armistice was signed. Then out he came with his story: 'Captain,' he said, 'the armistice has been signed and there's no more chance of any real fighting. I want to tell you something. I deserted from the navy so that my twin brother wouldn't have anything on me. He was with the Marines and getting a lot of real life. I couldn't stand it so I shipped out with you fellows."

"Of course the navy people had to know about it and as a coincidence, Private Flske came home the same time I did on the President Grant. He was in the brig. They sent him to Hoboken where he is now. He can see or talk to nobody but his counsel. He asked me to take up his case and I did."

There's the story of Private Flske and Captain Gargan's connection with it. He has had some of the leading writers of New York present the case to Secretary Daniels and he showed the present writer a copy of the plea he is about to send to Vice Admiral Cleave of the navy, asking that Flske not be summoned for court martial.

Something About Gargan

As for Capt. Gargan himself, he is resting up at the home of his aunt, Miss Helen Tully of 22 Ware street. His own story is more or less well known. He has been in the Marines for 22 months and 17 of these were spent under shellfire. His right sleeve bears a golden stripe telling of a machine gun wound received at Belleau Wood. He is one of 14 men left out of an original company of 350. Two years ago he was studying law in Chicago and left that pursuit to enlist with the Marines. He landed in France in September, 1917, and got into action in Verdun in a short time. He stayed there three months. Next came a transfer to Chateau-Thierry about the first of June and the story of the Marines there is well known.

About all there was here, the captain says, was bayonet work and most of it was pretty ugly. This marked the breaking point of the German morale, as the flms were not "there" when it came to close-up fighting. His division suffered its greatest casualties there and his commanding officer and two lieutenants lost their lives.

Wounded in Leg

Activity next shifted to Belleau Wood and it was here that two machine gun bullets ripped Capt. Gargan's leg. Conditions were pretty bad there and it was no unusual matter to go without food for stretches at a time.

One interesting souvenir which the captain prizes is a gold watch taken from a German which contains a lock of hair, evidently belonging to some one cherished by the soldier. Then, besides, he has an iron cross, a saw bayonet, one of the crudest weapons made, a gas mask and a steel helmet.

Following his wound, Gargan was compelled to remain in the hospital weeks. At the end of this period he was sent back to the line at St. Mihiel, but stayed there only a short time when he was recalled to Paris to become naval attaché to the staff of Rear Admiral Long. He had very interesting experiences in this position and one of them was being present at a dinner given to President Wilson and most of the famous allied generals by Ambassador Sharp. Such notables as General Foch, Marshall Joffre, Sir Douglas Haig, General Pershing and General Petain were there.

Took Few Prisoners

In speaking of the Germans, the captain says that the Marines did not believe in taking them prisoners. It was a case of fight or die, usually. In many of the raids a large number of Germans would be killed and only one allowed to live so that he might give information.

The captain left Paris early in February for home. His present orders call for his going to Russia, but he hopes to have these changed in view of his long service and his being wounded. However, an officer of the U. S. Marines is in the service for life unless he resigns during peace times and even at that his resignation is not accepted if he has any kind of a record. Capt. Gargan expects to go to Washington in a few days in consultations—nurses were almost impossible to obtain—the demand on the drug trade was unexpected and overwhelming, and to this demand they responded nobly. Retail druggists kept open day and night and slept where they dropped behind the prescription counter. Wholesale druggists called their salesmen off the road to help fill orders—hundreds wired us to ship Vick's Vaporub by the quickest route, regardless of expense.

A TREMENDOUS JOB TO INCREASE OUR PRODUCTION

In this emergency we have tried to do our part. We secured the country for raw materials—our traffic manager spent his days riding freight cars in—wired shipped raw materials in carload lots by express and pleaded with manufacturers to increase their deliveries to us.

But it was a slow process. Some of our raw materials are produced only in Japan—supplies in this country were low and shipments required three months to come from the Far East. Then we had to recruit and train skilled labor. We brought our salesmen into the factory and trained them as foremen. We invented new machinery, an engine to install it on Christmas day, so as not to interfere with our daily production.

143 JARS OF VAPORUB EVERY MINUTE DAY AND NIGHT

By January 1st we had everything ready to put on our night shift, and since then our laboratory has been running day and night. To get our automatic machines, which drop out one hundred and forty-three jars of Vaporub a minute or one million and eighty thousand weekly, has required a force of 500 people. Our cut department, created for the benefit of these workers, served 7000 meals during the month of January alone.

15 MILLION JARS OF VAPORUB DISTRIBUTED SINCE OCTOBER

An index of the work we have accomplished this fall may be given by our production figures—13,025,576 jars of Vaporub manufactured and distributed since last October—one jar for every two families in the entire United States.

The decoration is shown in reduced size in the view in the lower left-hand corner of the illustration above. It consists of a heavy outer band of coin gold, with an inner line also of gold. Between these lines are appropriate sprays of roses, reproduced in Nature's own beautiful colors.

This offer is for you ladies who have never before got any home-furnishings direct from the makers, and don't know the advantages. From an almost infinite variety of Quaker Valley Factory Bargain Offers we have chosen this exquisitely beautiful Dinner Set to go to your home and win you as a regular Quaker Valley coupon clipper. We shall submit it for your approval as a conclusive argument in support of our triumphant plan of dealing with the people directly instead of through retail stores. If we do not prove to your satisfaction, not only that no such values are obtainable in the stores, but that you thus get newer patterns and fresher goods, then we ask you to return the Dinner Set—and at our expense, not yours.

We don't see how we can put it any stronger; we don't know how to write a more binding, protecting guarantee of satisfaction than this, namely: PAY IF YOU'RE PLEASED; IF NOT, RETURN AT OUR EXPENSE. We will send you this set direct from one of the largest potteries in the United States, for you to use and admire before

BIRTHDAY PARTY

A very pleasant birthday party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred L. Davis, Sunday in honor of their little daughter, Miss Esther Davis, the occasion being her seventh anniversary of birth. About 30 of her little friends gathered and showered her with many useful gifts. "Our Flag" was recited by Master Vernon Morris and solos were given by Miss Margaret Kearnes, Miss Ruth Rothwell, Master Peter McQuillen and Master Terrence O'Rourke. There was dancing by Miss Marion Howarth. A buffet luncheon was served by Misses Loretta, Grace and Cora V. Davis, and Kittie Lee. The party broke up with all wishing the little hostess many happy returns of the day and all singing "The Star Spangled Banner." Miss Leonard A. Spellman was the accompanist.

Net Earnings For 1918 Were
$54,293,016 — President
Vail's Statement

NEW YORK, March 10.—The net earnings of the American Telephone & Telegraph Co. for 1918 were $54,293,016, according to the annual report issued yesterday. Deduction of interest charges left a balance of $43,901,321 available for dividends which was an increase of $5,130,215 over 1917. The surplus for 1918 was $3,671,622.

Reporting on the subject of "combination and regulation" Theodore N. Vail, president of the company, says: "It will be extremely unfortunate if with a very pronounced public sentiment in favor of it, a wire system with national-wide, universal, comprehensive service and complete utilization of all the facilities, cannot be evolved from the existing conditions."

There is no reason, providing we have rational control and regulation or governmental supervision to fear government ownership but without a rational, effective control, which will regulate but not restrict, control but not destroy utilities of necessity, government ownership is inevitable.

"There is little doubt remaining in the minds of the public but that regulated monopoly is better than unregulated government ownership, and there is no longer any extensive conviction that there can be effective competition in the electric transmission of intelligence."

Mr. Vail presented also in the form of a diagram, an argument for an increase in telephone rates. The diagram shows the increase in commodity costs and wages while telephone rates have remained almost stationary. Compared with the price of commodities in general, the rates have decreased 30 per cent, it is pointed out.

"About 12 per cent increase in rates

is needed," says Mr. Vail, "which appears almost negligible when compared with advances in the cost of other commodities."

EXEMPTION PROVISIONS FOR MARRIED PEOPLE

CHICAGO, March 11.—An extension of the exemption provisions of the income tax is contained in a ruling by Commissioner Roper, made public here today. It is that the exemption for wife or children covers the whole year 1918 even if marriage took place or the child was born on the last day of the year.

NEWARK, N. J., FACES BIG TRACTION STRIKE

NEWARK, N. J., March 11.—A strike on all the traction lines of the Public Service Co., operating in northern New Jersey, was ordered today to begin at 4 a. m. tomorrow by the state headquarters of the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employees.

MERRIMACK RIVER HEARING FRIDAY

Special to The Sun
STATE HOUSE, Boston, March 11.—Plans for conducting the big Merrimack river development hearing next Friday were discussed yesterday afternoon at the state house, during a conference of the Merrimack valley legislators.

Nearly all of the senators and representatives from the valley cities and towns were present, and others who joined in the conference were Congressman W. W. Larkin of Essex, who represents the sixth congressional district in congress; Andrew B. Sullivan of Lawrence, one of the members of the original river development commission; Richard Ward, president of the Essex county board of trade, and William G. Fisher of Newburyport, president of the Business Men's association of that city.

Congressman Larkin reported he had conferred with the senate and house chairmen of the committee on harbors and public lands, before which the hearing will be held, that the proponents of the $3,500,000 appropriation bill will be given all the time they desire for presenting their arguments, and that the committee will obtain a room large enough to accommodate all who may attend, even though the largest room in the state house is required. He also announced that Congressman John Jacob Rogers of Lowell and Michael E. Phelan of Lynn will be present without fail, to lend their support, both moral and oral, to the development plan.

The hearing is scheduled for Friday of this week, at 10:30 in the forenoon, and unless an unexpectedly large crowd is in attendance it will be held in room 426 of the state house.

WAI TRADE BOARD REMOVES RESTRICTIONS ON IMPORTANT EXPORT LICENSES

WASHINGTON, March 11.—Individual import and export licenses for the colonies, possessions and protectorates of Great Britain, France, Italy, Belgium and Japan, will no longer be required, it is announced by the war trade board.

The board also removed restrictions of the importation of peanuts when shipped from the country of origin.

This ruling does not apply to shipments of peanuts stored in Canada, unless they were purchased and paid for prior to April 14, 1918.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

R. P. KEITH'S THEATRE
A singing comedienne, plus—best describes Lillian Shaw, the talented accomplished character student who is awarded first position on this week's bill at Keith's theatre by her real knowledge of human nature.

Miss Shaw could easily make a living by her ability as a singing comedienne. She is wholly sufficient in such a role. But as a character sketcher she steps out of the more or less restricted avenues of comedy work into the more serious realm of depicting human nature in all its moods—joyful or otherwise.

Miss Shaw is partial to the Jewish type. She evidently knows and has studied this nationality more than any other, although her Italian character study last evening was exceptionally well done.

But it is while assuming the role of a Jewish lady about to be married that Miss Shaw seems right at home. Jewish lady is all stirred up in her wedding garments but is rather puzzled and fearful of what is to follow. She gives vent to this feeling and the result is 15 minutes' uproar on the part of the audience.

Scene two shows Jewish lady perfectly married with two young boys, Harry, etc. She has come to the full realization of the meaning of marriage but she does not falter under the burden. She accepts the facts as facts and gets comfort out of philosophical rumination on her place in the sun.

Miss Shaw actually lives the character while she is depicting it and the audience delights in her artistry. When it's time to speak, Miss Shaw speaks; at other times she rolls her eyes or moves her body. They have a language of their own.

Two of the most up-to-the-minute youngsters that have graced the boards at Keith's for some time are Mae and Rose Wilton who brought down the house last evening with their songs about current happenings. They have a full string of music based on the "blues" type that southern singers like to warble so much. A hundred and one things about present day affairs give them the "blues" and out they come with their expressions of depression much to the merriment of their auditors.

William H. Macart, a consummate actor and comedian, and Edithne Bradford present an entertaining sketch entitled "Love, Honor and Obedience." The lady in the case being the one to make this vow at the marriage ceremony, friend husband is called upon to be the great and how the comedy drama of this affair actually works out in married life makes up the nucleus of a very enjoyable sketch. Both players are perfectly at home in the characters they portray and at no time does the plot seem untrue to possibility.

Pantomimists are the Three Eddies from the word of the lady in this difficult art down fine and their acrobatic work is side-splitting. The Curious Sisters revolve in the air with nothing but their legs and their teeth and provide thrills in abundance by their hair-raising work.

In a drug store is an entertaining sketch presented by Edward E. Dwyer and Swift & Daley upon the bill with a novelty musical act.

The Kinetograph pictures show the return of the 37th Division to New York and the comedy picture is all that it should be.

Seals for the remaining performances of the week may be obtained in advance at the box office. Phone 38.

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

The theatre-going public of Lowell is certainly being treated to a well-arranged variety of dramas at the Lowell Opera House this season. The efforts of the Emerson Players this week are bent on the successful presentation of an unusual play, full of thrills and mystery, almost until the final curtain.

"Broken Threads," a drama in three acts, from the pen of Ernest Wilkes, tells the story of a young miner and after months of prospecting and hardship, finally "struck it rich." He takes a trip to San Francisco in order to raise the necessary funds to develop the mines, and while in one of the cabarets he hears a girl singing, and realizes that in fact he has met the girl of his dreams.

But on the night when they were to have been married tragedy, in the form of the man who had cast a black shadow over the girl's life in her youth, stalked into the room, and before the midnight hour had struck, one man lay dead with a neat bullet hole through his forehead, and the other was sitting in a cell awaiting trial for murder. How the man and the girl meet fate at its own game, and finally won happiness, makes an absorbing story, and one that will hold the interest until the final curtain.

The management could not have provided a better vehicle for the Emerson Players than "Broken Threads." Each and every member of the cast seemed to fit right into the part assigned, and portrayed his or her part to the hilt. As Dorothy, the girl, the pretty little cabaret singer who sang her way into the young miner's heart, Miss Jean Seigler adds another triumph to her already long list. She interprets the part in the same intimate manner, replete with consideration and cleverness, the character of her work ever since coming to this city. Julian, the man who was the cause of the tragedy, is played by Harry Wynn, whose life nearly goes to smash on that eventful night when instead of being on his way to the little church around the corner he finds himself in a prison cell, handling his part with his usual skill, and surprised even his friends by his clear cut and vivid portrayal of the role assigned him. Others who are helping in "putting over this thoroughly enjoyable play are: Thomas Carroll, Alice Glenister, Augustine J. Gossard, George W. Wilkinson, Martin Mitchell, Arthur Buchanan, Arthur LaRue, Louise Gerard-Huntington and George Bryant Connor.

A Perfect Treatment For This Distressing Complaint

WASING.
"I had an attack of Weeping Eczema; so had that my clothes would be wet through at times. I suffered terribly. I could get no relief until I tried 'Fruit-a-lives' (or Fruit Liver Tablets) and 'Sootha Salva'. The first treatment gave me relief. Altogether, I have used three boxes of 'Sootha Salva' and two of 'Fruit-a-lives', and am entirely well'."

THE STRAND THEATRE

The patrons of the Strand theatre who will attend the performance this evening will not only enjoy one of the best programs presented at this place of amusement this season, but will also have the pleasure of meeting personally one of the noted film stars, Mariel Ostiche, who will appear in a play which she has written and which she is now touring with. At the close of the performance Miss Ostiche will give a reception in the lobby of the theatre.

The program arranged for the first three days of the week could not be improved upon at a first, that seems to be the consensus of opinion at the close of last evening's performance. Quantity and quality are the predominant notes and nothing has been spared to make this week a notable one in the history of this popular theatre.

First is shown the well known and favorite film star, Geraldine Farrar, who appears in a delightful creation entitled "Shadows," a highly attractive picture in which the able artist finds ample opportunities to demonstrate her rare talent. The story of the play deals with Frank Cratley, a promoter, looking for capital to develop a spurious mining prospect of Nevada and who in order to attain his aim, seeks to swindle Judson Barnes, a man of standing in the community. Barnes' wife warns him against Cratley, but the latter recognizes the woman as a former dance hall habituée of Alaska and he warns her by telephone and threatens the exposure of her past life. The woman becoming frightened, feigns a change of mind and urges her husband to enter the deal. Judson goes to Nevada, but before the deal is made, she comes to the rescue and a very interesting and exciting scene follows.

The second number on the program is "The Unrolling Hand," a World Picture offering of rare merit featuring in the stellar role Kitty Gordon, a striking story of a man's cowardice and a woman's faith. It deals with the daughter of a college professor, who becomes engaged to a young man of the place. He plans a trip to Africa on the ground that relief of an invasion made by the Greeks can be found, but he will not go unless his

FREE FOR THIS VISIT

To all who call at the NEW AMERICAN HOTEL, Wednesday, March 12th I will give Consultations, Diagnosis of Disease and Examinations, Absolutely Free of Charge.

Never before has such an opportunity been given the sick of this vicinity, and if you are suffering, you should not fail to take advantage of it. Those wishing to see him should remember the Days, Dates and Office Hours of his visits and call early to avoid the crowded last hours.

For nearly 15 years I have been studying the Chemistry of food and the Chemistry of the human body. I have put these two sciences together and formulated the science of Applied Food Chemistry. By the application of this knowledge I cure all forms of stomach and intestinal diseases, and all other disorders that result from wrong eating and drinking. This method cannot fail because it conforms to the laws of Nature.

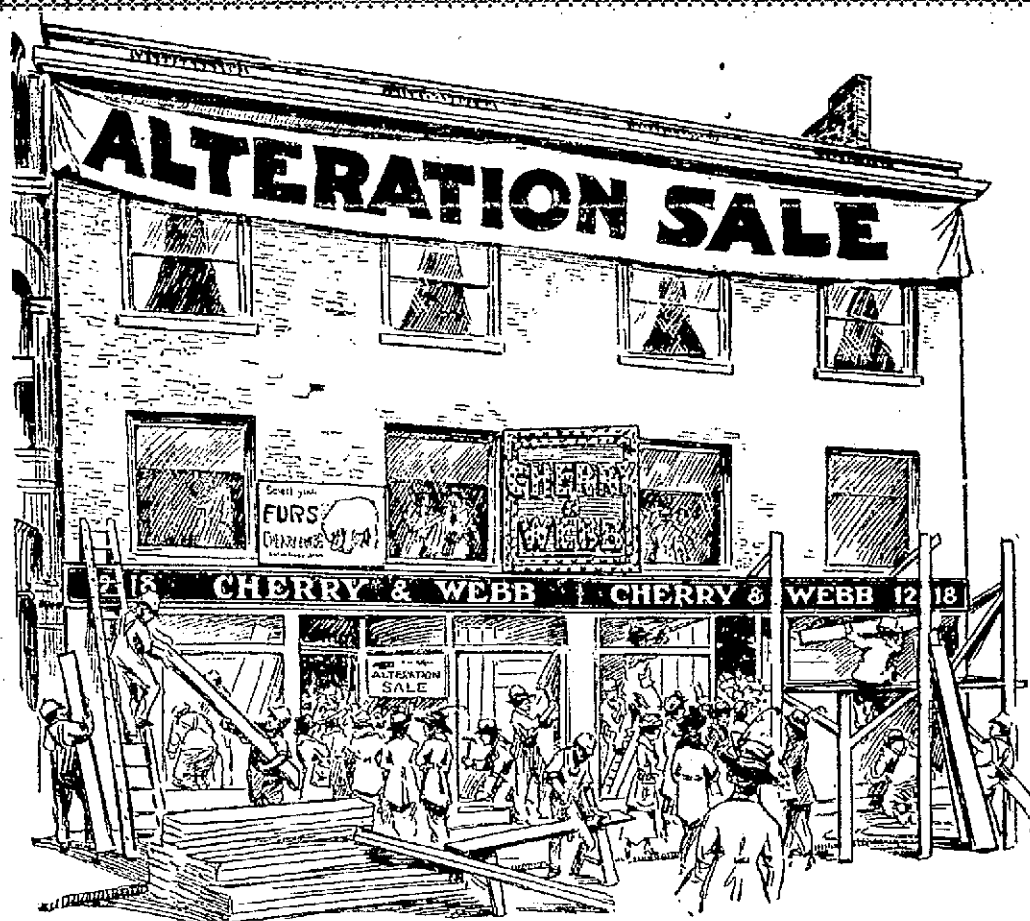

It is estimated that ninety-two per cent. of all diseases are caused by errors in eating. These errors are made by wrong selections, wrong combinations, and wrong proportions of food. I teach you how to correct these, how to select, how to combine and how to proportion your food according to your age and your occupation. This cures by removing causes. It gives Nature a chance. This is the true science of human nutrition, and it is governed by laws as infallible as the laws of gravitation. If you obey them you cannot be sick. If you do not obey them you cannot be well.

You have no idea what your body is capable of, until you have it perfectly nourished. You have no idea what your mind is capable of, until it lives in a perfectly nourished body.

DR. NAUGHTON will positively be at the New American Hotel Wednesday, March 12th, from 10 o'clock in the morning until 7 o'clock in the evening to consult with and examine all cases personally.

LIEUT. LEO A. KING GETS HIS DISCHARGE

Honorably discharged from the United States army, Lieut. Leo A. King arrived in Lowell today from Chicago, where for the past several months he has been assistant to the depot quartermaster there. Lieut. King enlisted in the army some time ago and from Fort Slocum went to Camp J. E. Johnston, Jacksonville, Fla. After the usual course of training here, he entered the officers' school, was graduated with a commission in the quartermaster corps and assigned to Chicago.

MUSTEROLE—QUICK RELIEF! NO BLISTER!

It Soothes and Relieves Like a Mustard Plaster Without the Burn or Sting

Musterole is a clean, white ointment, made with the oil of mustard. It does all the work of the old-fashioned mustard plaster—does it better and does not blister. You do not have to bother with a cloth. You simply rub it on—and usually the pain is gone!

Many doctors and nurses use Musterole and recommend it to their patients.

They will gladly tell you what relief it gives from sore throat, bronchitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet, colds of the chest (it often prevents pneumonia).

Lieut. King is in excellent health and while he regrets that he did not get a chance to go across, he filled the Chicago position to the satisfaction of his superior officers. He will resume his duties as principal of the Edison school after a short rest at his home in Belvidere.

BOYS ARRESTED FOR CAMP BREAKING

Officers O'Brien and Livingston of Billerica went to Charlestown yesterday and returned with three young prisoners, who were booked at the police station on charges of breaking and entering and larceny. The boys were later permitted to return to their homes with the understanding that they will appear at the juvenile session of the police court next Friday morning.

The boys gave the names of Francis Daly, William Morris and James Brennan, and their ages 13, 14 and 15 years respectively. They are charged with breaking into the camp of Capt. Charles F. Winslip at Nutting's lake in Billerica and stealing therefrom a victrola, a folding camera, a clock, numerous tools and other articles. Including a tea kettle, which later gave the officers a clue as to the identity of the young thieves.

The camp of Capt. Winslip, a sort of summer residence, was broken into

February 8, but the break was not discovered by the owner until a few days ago when the matter was reported to Officers O'Brien and Livingston. The Brennan family owns a camp on the shores of the lake and a couple of days ago some of the boys of the district while looking through one of the windows of that camp, saw a tea kettle on the table and recognized it as that of Capt. Winslip's and the officers were immediately informed of the discovery. Information then revealed the fact that the Brennan boy with two companions spent the night of February 8 at the Brennan camp and with this clue in hand the officers yesterday went to Charlestown, and so they claim, had the Brennan boy confess to the break and he also implicated his two companions, Morris and Daly. The little chaps, so the police allege, also admitted breaking into the store of Mr. Perry at the lake on the same night and stealing therefrom some cigars and tobacco.

DIES OF BULLET WOUNDS

PORTLAND, Me., March 11.—James J. Brant died today from the effects of self-inflicted bullet wounds, which ordinarily would cause almost immediate death and poisoning, after a remarkable fight of two weeks to recover. He was taken to a hospital after he had shot and slightly wounded his wife, it was alleged, at the corner of Fore and Franklin streets.

An examination disclosed a bullet hole in the diaphragm and that bullets had pierced his stomach, his liver and cut the intestines in three places.

HE SURE IS SOME MAYOR

Ole Hanson Lively Chief Executive—We'll Say So—
Smokes 50 a Day

Here's a two-minute "word-movie" of Ole Hanson, mayor of Seattle, who just won national fame by piloting his city through the first attempt of Bolshevism in America to overthrow the government. This "revolution" was to have started with the Seattle five-day general strike.

His name is pronounced O-lee.

He is 47 years old, born in Racine county, Wisconsin, of Norwegian parents.

White-haired, blue-eyed, slight, restless, energetic, enthusiastic.

Familiarly hailed by everyone as "Ole,"

Has family of nine children from 2 to 22 years old, who formed his only "bodyguard" in recent strike.

Works seven days a week and never has time for a vacation.

Smokes 50 cigars a day and doesn't want to swear off.

Keeps derringer beside his "political textbook," the Bible, in executive desk drawer.

Broadly western in manner and speech, with little regard for "dignity" or conventions.

Likes shows, but never sat through a single movie play.

Says he "ears no living thing."

Sixteen years ago walked from Wisconsin to Seattle behind prairie schooner that carried wife and babies.

Sleeps about 4 hours a night—and begrudges even that as "time wasted."

During critical war days last year worked regular 4-hour shift as boiler-up in Seattle shipyards, after finishing day's work as mayor.

Considered best orator in Pacific Northwest.

Elected member Washington state legislature in 1908-09.

Always champion of labor measures and municipal ownership.

Says: "I have fought attempts of capital against minority control of the government, and now I shall uncompromisingly fight attempts of Bolshevism at minority control in this country."

FOR LARCENY OF WATCH

A 13-year-old boy was arrested last evening by Sgt. Bigelow on a charge of larceny of a gold watch from a tailor, whose establishment is in Appleton street. The watch was later found in an alleyway off Green street. The young prisoner will be arraigned at the juvenile court next Friday morning.

Gladys Walton, spokesman for chorus girls, who wants to know if they're laborites or artists and an artist's conception of grand opera under Bolshevik auspices.

HELP! BOLSHIEVISM THREATENS THE OPERA ON BOTH SIDES OF FOOTLIGHTS

(N.E.A. Special to The Sun)

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—New York's "100," who have a mortgage in the "Diamond Horseshoe," are in a panic lest Bolshevism some day invade the opera, even as it has in Munich.

In Munich the Workers and Soldiers' Council has ordered that all theatre tickets must be the same price. You pay your dollar and decidedly drawing whether you land in the half-headed row or up in the peanut gallery.

And New York's chorus girls are tetering between a high art pose and proletarianism—"Whatever that is."

In Berlin the chorus at the opera house has gone on strike because the management has refused to grant higher wages and certain demands "placing the chorus on the same level with the principals."

In New York it's a case of helping at charity benefits of every sort and getting nothing themselves, the girls complain. If they're "labor" they want to join a union or a soviet or something and share in the benefits. If they're artists they want recognition as such.

A committee of chorus girls, headed by Gladys Walton of "The Melting of Molly" company, has just called upon Mrs. Raymond Robins, president of the Women's Trade Union league, for her decision on the question: Is the chorus girl eligible for membership in a trade union?

"Are we artists or laborites?" Miss Walton asks. "It looks as though girls of the stage are neither fowl nor fish. Managers don't recognize us as artists and women interested in the social betterment of girls don't consider us in the working class," she said.

FR. SCHOFIELD'S WILL

Unfinished Letter Left by North Chelmsford Priest Puzzles Many Lawyers

WORCESTER, March 11.—Rev. Edmund T. Schofield, pastor of St. John's Catholic church in North Chelmsford, near Lowell, died before he completed an important letter addressed to William Cardinal O'Connell, and the result is of engrossing interest, not only to the legal fraternity of Middlesex county and Worcester county, but also to heirs of the deceased clergyman who live in Worcester.

The most perplexed man in the whole case, however, is Cardinal O'Connell, on whose shoulders rests the burden of responsibility of adjusting an estate amicably and equitably.

Fr. Schofield made his will about two years ago and had it duly witnessed and filed with important papers, so that it might be readily found for probating in case of his demise. He left an estate of about $14,000 and several heirs.

By the terms of his will, which had been entered for probate, he made the cardinal his executor of the will without sureties, and Cardinal O'Connell has taken upon himself the responsibility of that charge. One clause of the will leaves every dollar of the priest's little fortune to the cardinal "to be disposed of in accordance with certain instructions contained in a letter which I shall leave with my will."

Fr. Schofield evidently sat down to write the letter in accordance with his intention for disposing of his property, but he died before the letter was finished. The copy received in Worcester reads:

"I instruct that $500 shall be paid for masses for myself, 2. I instruct that $500 shall be—"

and then there are a few illegible marks, and that's the end.

The question of the will is a puzzler to Worcester attorneys who became acquainted with the facts last week. Worcester heirs of Fr. Schofield are waiting to hear from the cardinal with reference to the matter. Without trying to try the case beforehand, Worcester lawyers have given much professional thought to the subject as a similar one has not occurred in Worcester county and they wonder how Cardinal O'Connell can dispose of the little fortune without the letter.

Then comes up the question of how can the heirs decide it. There is a third phase, which Worcester attorneys were quick to see: Fr. Schofield left the estate to Cardinal O'Connell without any strings attached thereto, excepting a letter which he was going to write, but which as it turned out he did not write and some assert the $14,000 is now the property of the cardinal.

What were Fr. Schofield's plans with regard to disposing of his life savings? Who can decide? If the will is construed so as to leave the property to Cardinal O'Connell, where do the Worcester heirs come in? are questions being asked.

The problem promises to be of interest to the lawyers of three cities and two counties.

Applying This Paste Actually Removes Hairs

(Beauty Notes)

Merely applying an inexpensive paste to a hairy surface, say beauty specialists, will dissolve the hairs. This paste is made by mixing a little water with some powdered delatone. After about 2 minutes it is rubbed off and the skin washed. This simple method not only removes every trace of hair, but leaves the skin free from blemish. To insure success with this treatment, be careful to get real delatone.—Adv.

PLUNKETT IN BOSTON

Irish Leader Arouses Storm—
Asserts Boston Can't Settle Problems For Ireland

BOSTON, March 11.—Sir Horace Plunkett of Dublin, who presided over the Irish convention, came to Boston yesterday and made several speeches which have caused a furor among those who believe in the establishment of a free and independent Irish republic.

Before the undergraduates at Boston college, the state senate and the city council he expressed himself in unequivocal terms against severing ties between England and Ireland and emphasized that he believed in the Irish problem being settled by the people of Ireland in Ireland and not in New York or Boston or Paris.

So pronounced were his views that immediately after he left Boston college, the students voiced their protests, and Rev. Gerald Treacy, S.J., senior professor of philosophy, ex-chaplain of the 20th infantry and former editor of "American," issued a statement to the effect that "Boston college is not accountable for any of the ill-advised opinions of Sir Horace."

When his attention was called to the attitude of the students whom he addressed only a few hours before, Sir Horace said, "It does not surprise me to hear that everybody does not agree with me."

While the distinguished Irish publicist was at the state house, he was introduced to Gov. Chas. H. Cummings and other state officials.

It was intended to have him address the house of representatives after his speech in the senate, but this plan was abandoned when Representative Thos. A. Noland of East Boston served notice that he intended to demand that Sir Horace disclose whether he comes to America as an envoy of the British empire.

Sir Horace passed part of the day sightseeing as the guest of William F. Fitzgerald, who was host at a luncheon at the Algonquin.

From the state house Sir Horace went to city hall to pay his respects to Mayor Peters. The city council was in session at the time and adjourned to meet Sir Horace, after unanimously adopting a resolution favoring self-determination for Ireland.

THE SAVIORS OF FRANCE

Miss Clement Tells of the Lives of Marshal Foch and Premier Clemenceau

In an intimate, fascinating and most informal way, Miss Marguerite Clement of France, yesterday afternoon told the members of the Middlesex Women's club something of the lives of the two greatest men in France today, Foch and Clemenceau—Foch, the soldier, and Clemenceau, the statesman. Both are adored and worshipped by every Frenchman, who looks upon them as the saviors of his country in the military crisis just passed, and looks to them as safe pilots through the stormy sea of reconstruction.

Miss Clement fairly radiates and breathes out the spirit of that great republic across the sea and enthusiastically eulogizes the lives of its great men. She also prophesied that if the progress of the world and mankind is to be assured it will be through a lasting friendship between France and America; a perfect collaboration, the foundations of which are being laid at the peace conference and which will grow to reality through a League of Nations.

Speaking first of Foch, Miss Clement said that he is the greatest, or at least, one of the greatest men of France. "People in France will carve the names of Foch and Clemenceau on every public building, house, school and church in France," she said, "and these two names sum up both sides of French life, the military and the civil."

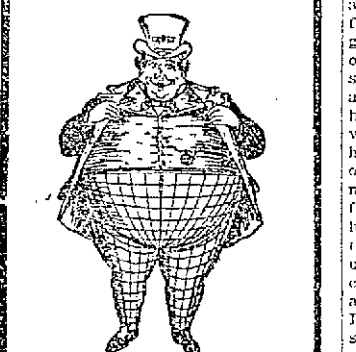

"Foch is not only a great general, but also a great citizen. He is not only admired by his soldiers, but he is worshipped by them. He was born in the south of France in a little town of 30,000 people, close to the Pyrenees. But he has none of the characteristics of the southern French, who are noted for their incessant talking and, of course, their gesticulations. He is a most silent man and when he does talk it is with the greatest brevity. For instance, at the second battle of the Marne he sent back the following telegram: 'Right wing failing back; counter-attacking; situation excellent.' He did not think it necessary to explain why he believed the situation excellent when all surface signs were to the contrary."

and here; they are falling back there and there, and soon we hope to do better." That was all he had to say, but it did not satisfy the newspapermen, who asked for more. Foch went to the window and looked out at the rain. "Very fine weather, gentlemen," he said, "good for some and not good for others. Good day." The interview was ended as far as he was concerned.

"Did you ever look closely at his picture? At his eyes? All his expression is in his eyes, which are deeply intellectual. His grandfather was a peasant and a wheat merchant, and his father a civil servant. This graduation of three generations runs true in France in hundreds of cases where the man of the present day has achieved much and his grandfather a civil servant, and you see, Foch is but an ordinary type."

"Foch's grandfather was also a soldier and fought with Napoleon, which accounts for Napoleon being chosen as the christening name of the present general and his brother. And Foch has appeared so much as the Napoleon of years ago. After attending the high school in the town where he was born Foch prepared for the polytechnic school. At the age of 13 years he enlisted in the army in the first German war. And as a strange coincidence, Clemenceau also was active in the first German war, not as a soldier, but as a deputy, and neither ever forgot Alsace-Lorraine. After the war and the famous Bordeaux assembly in 1871, Foch went to Nancy and found a German army of occupation there. Today it is an allied army of occupation. Foch knew what defeat was and he felt a part of the great national shame. In Nancy the Germans paraded daily through the streets and their bands played all the German tunes incessantly. Foch detested them and they remained in his memory until in the present war, when he went again to Nancy as the head of the famous Iron division of France, and on the day of his entry ordered a huge military band to play French tunes for 24 hours, to silence forever in his memory the echoes of those detested German songs."

"After graduation from the polytechnic school Foch settled down in quiet with his family for a time, but soon was appointed the head of the first French military school for the training of officers. And who appointed him to that office? Clemenceau. Foch prepared for the polytechnic school was involved in the appointment, too. Clemenceau did not believe in the Roman Catholic faith, while Foch was a devout worshipper in that church, and more, too, Foch had a brother a Jesuit. When he learned that Clemenceau had appointed him as the head of the school he went to him and asked the reason, knowing that he was of hostile faith, and knowing, too, that Clemenceau knew of his Jesuit brother. The answer of the prime minister was strong, but typical of the man. He said, 'I don't give a damn what your brother is, you will train good officers, and that is all I want.'"

"Foch's military beliefs were radical and unusual. He often said that a defensive war was the only legitimate kind of warfare, always having in mind the consideration of troops. He believes in individual initiative even to the point of saying that there comes a time in the life of a soldier when it is his duty to disobey the orders given him. This is not much like the belief of the German high command. He said that Germany would lose the war because her people believed too much in hypothesis and abstract imagination and that their military leaders lacked common sense. Foch did not train a man to be a soldier, but rather he trained him to be a fine mind."

"Foch won the first battle of Nancy, which many believe was just as important a battle as the Marne, for he stopped the German left wing there and upset their plans. He intercepted a message passing through the German lines which read, 'Not at any price must the German right wing learn of the fate of the German left wing at Nancy.' Foch was then sent to the Flemish front at a most perilous time, when Marshal Foch of the English forces had decided to retreat, and persuaded French to stay on for a while. He did and the German advance was stopped. He was sent to Italy when our armies were in retreat and torn by mutiny caused by German propaganda, and turned the tide by giving the Italian officers and men new confidence."

"Gen. Foch is a great citizen with a great soul—a man of silence, but few people know how much he has given for France. He has lost his only son in the war, and later his only son-in-law, who he loved very much, and he will go quietly back to his home to find his daughter there, a widow. He has given everything he had. No one in France ever thinks or even dreams that Foch, with all his military success, is a dangerous man for the French republic, as some men have been in years gone by. I do not think he will ever come to America unless he feels that the good of his country demands it. He would be afraid of the acclaim, he is too shy. If he ever comes, I will be greatly surprised."

"Miss Clement spoke more briefly of the life of Clemenceau, but paid him all the honor due. She said he is an old man, but to a great extent a young man of 75 years. After recently being struck and wounded by two bullets from the gun of a would-be murderer, he was asked by a priest if he were ready to go to God, and his reply was: 'Not yet, thank you, sir.' The 'Tiger' cured himself, after the shooting, Miss Clement said, by receiving 40 visitors in one day, much against the advice of his physicians."

"Clemenceau comes from a family of physicians," said the speaker, "and he, also, is one. His father was an old Liberal and was imprisoned twice for expressions of opinion. In 1871 Clemenceau was a member of the Bordeaux assembly. He might have been a patriot had it not been for the sad memories of Alsace-Lorraine. At the time of the Casa Blanca business he resolved the German ambassador who made an attempt to draw France into conflict with Germany by bringing in his country's terms and saying that if they were not complied with by the next morning, he would take the train to Berlin. Clemenceau did not lose his head. 'Excellent,' he replied, 'Why waste your precious time? There is a very good train at 5 o'clock this afternoon.' The German ambassador had met his master, and he did not leave that afternoon, nor the next day."

"At the time of the French reverse at Chemin de Dames and many people called for the withdrawal of Foch as the head of the army, Clemenceau stood and talked for him for two hours in the chamber of deputies, and Foch was retained. France considers him a savior, just as Foch, Clemenceau and Wilson are striving for the same thing, a durable peace. The League of Nations will be the salvation of France, but it must be proven safe for her. We won the war, but by very, very little, and at times it was but a question of days and hours, and we do not want a chance of it occurring again. We are Germany's next door neighbor and we want our borders made safe. The League of Nations must assure a practical and efficient warranty for France's safety."

Worms Make Sick Children

Signs of worms in children are: De-ranged stomach, swollen upper lip, sour stomach, offensive breath, hard and full belly with occasional gripings and pains about the navel, pale face of leaden tint, eyes heavy and dull, twitching eyelids, itching of the nose, itching of the rectum, short dry cough, grinding of the teeth, little red points sticking out on tongue, starting during sleep, slow fever.

The safe method for ridding the child of worms is to use Dr. Tru's Elixir. Mrs. William G. Benin, of Caddo, Oklahoma, wrote regarding Dr. Tru's Elixir: "We have used it for our children for the last twelve years and certainly know the value of it." You can buy Dr. Tru's Elixir wherever medicine is sold. Pleasant tasting—gentle acting. The family laxative and worm expeller for children and grown folks.—Adv.

ADMITTED TO THE BAR

Wm. F. McColough Member of Massachusetts and District of Columbia Bars

William F. McColough, a Lowell young man who was successful in a recent examination for admission to practice law in this state, was today admitted to practice law before the Massachusetts courts. The ceremony took place in the supreme court rooms in Boston. Lawyer McColough is also a member of the bar of the District of Columbia.

For several years he was engaged as a laboratory aid in the bureau of standards at Washington, where Uncle Sam's research and scientific investigations take place. In 1916 Secretary Redfield promoted him to a position in the legal department of the bureau of navigation which has charge of the enforcement of the navigation laws. In June, 1918, Director General Subv. of the Emergency Fleet corporation appointed him to a position with the corporation with headquarters at 303 Broadway, New York, which place he still holds.

Lawyer McColough graduated from the Butler, Lowell evening high school, Success Business college and Carroll's Institute of Washington, D. C. In June, 1918, he graduated with honor from Georgetown university, receiving the degree of LL.B. from that institution.

His many friends in Lowell wish him success as a member of the bar of his home state.

REPORT ON THE LOWELL LABOR SITUATION

Mayor Perry D. Thompson submitted the following report of Lowell's labor situation to the department of labor at Washington during the national conference of governors and mayors held last week at the capital. The report was submitted to Robert W. Babson of the labor department:

The city of Lowell, in the commonwealth of Massachusetts, is a city located in the valley of the Merrimack river, with a population of about 130,000 cosmopolitan in character among which are Greeks, Poles, Portuguese, Italians and representatives of all the peoples of northern Europe and western Asia.

Mrs. Hendricks, Bedfast Five Months, Was Able to Work in Two Weeks

"I was sick last winter for five months with stomach and bowel trouble. Could not turn myself in bed without help. I was under the care of four doctors, and they gave me up. I tried all the drugs, but nothing helped my husband to try a bottle of Milk's Emulsion. I had only taken it two days until I was sitting up in bed, and in two weeks I was doing my own work. When I began taking it, I weighed only 70 pounds; now I weigh 120 pounds."—Mrs. Mary Hendricks, 590 Litchfield Road, Owensboro, Ky.

Thousands of people who have suffered for years from stomach and bowel troubles, have found relief, as Mrs. Hendricks did, almost from the first dose of Milk's Emulsion. And it isn't merely temporary relief, but real, lasting benefit.

Milk's Emulsion is a pleasant, nutritive food and a corrective medicine. It restores healthy, natural bowel action, doing away with all need of pills and physics. It promotes appetite and quickly puts the digestive organs in shape to assimilate food. As a builder of flesh and strength, Milk's Emulsion is strongly recommended to run-down nervous people, and it has produced amazing results in many cases of tuberculosis of the lungs. Chronic stomach trouble and constipation are promptly relieved—usually in one day.

This is the only solid emulsion made, and so palatable that even a child with a spoon-like ice cream. A truly dard medicine for weak, sickly children.

No matter how severe your case, you are urged to try Milk's Emulsion under this guarantee: Take six bottles and home with you, use it according to directions and if not satisfied with the results, your money will be promptly refunded. every loom in our textile industry was in operation. The men who desired to work had had to be out of employment, in fact, Lowell was a hive of activity and prosperity; all our people were engaged in work necessary to win the war.

At the end of the war cessation of such work was inevitable. The problem of the unemployed for the first time in four years confronted us; munition plants ceased to operate, textile industry operated on short time and a reduction of help ensued. In fact, insofar as the problem of putting to work our unemployed, we are quite in the position we were prior to the beginning of the world war.

The city of Lowell has ever been noted for its large textile industries as well as for its diversified manufacturing institutions. For the duration of the war there was manufactured in the city of Lowell, at the United States Cartridge company, one-tenth of all the small arms ammunition produced in the United States and at the same time 90 per cent employed in such work, and the end of the war placed this large amount of the population in the position of being unemployed. The unemployed class almost at once, compelling them to seek employment in various other industrial enterprises, which too, were compelled to reduce their production which the war necessitated.

Though we suffer no labor troubles because of strikes or agitation by the malcontents, yet we have a large number of unemployed. Our soldiers are now returning home to find no employment, it is up to our government, city, state and federal, to exert its best endeavors to put in motion the construction of public works, the building of bridges, to serve a utilitarian purpose as well as a means of furnishing employment to our men. A large number of the unemployed are about eight thousand people out of employment in the city of Lowell, and this number is surely bound to increase, and it seems to me that we are sure to remedy for the ills that are adequate, if the federal government would make its supervision over raw materials by stabilizing their production and sale.

PERRY D. THOMPSON, Mayor.

At an executive meeting held yesterday it was decided not to move the quarters for the time being and the above curtailed program of work was adopted.

DECIDES TO BE A LIVE ONE

Young Man Comes Back

One of our young men sure has come to the front in short order, and his friends are at a loss to understand his untiring energy and ability to work and get results, where only a few weeks before he seemed to be all run down and almost a nervous wreck. Questioned by a curious friend as to the cause of the sudden change, he said: "I sure was in bad shape and no one knew it better than I did. It had my goal for a long time. I felt like a nervous wreck to pieces with worry and sleepless nights. One day I overheard a customer telling what Phos-phated Iron had done for him and I could not get a supply quick enough."

"That's the whole story, just Phos-phated Iron. My poor tired overworked nerves just seemed to be Phosphate-hungry, the way they took hold of it, and they what else? I felt like a new man. Could sleep at night, and get up in the morning feeling like a two-year-old. Believe me, I had some appetite too, and my increased energy and face filled out and had the color of perfect health that only goes with pure blood, well fed with Iron."

"You can bet I am strong for Phos-phated Iron. Everyone who tries it is a booster."

"Do you know even the doctors are prescribing it; trust them to get next to a good thing!"

Lamar Tells Senate of Bolshevik Plan To Overthrow Government

I.W.W. Socialists and Anarchists Implicated—Bloody Revolution Planned

WASHINGTON, March 11.—Evidence gathered by the postoffice department through seized mail matter showing activities of the I.W.W. anarchists, socialists and other radicals since the signing of the armistice was to be read today into the records of the senate committee investigating lawless propaganda. The evidence was submitted in the form of a memorandum from Solicitor Lamar of the department, declaring that the radical elements of the United States were forming a union with a view to "the overthrow of the government of the United States by means of a bloody revolution and the establishment of a bolshevik republic."

Alderman Marchand Urges Immediate Action on the Erection of New High School

Head of Public Buildings Department Says He Is Ready To Start Work on New School Tomorrow Morning —G.A.R. Veterans Want More Convenient Meeting Place—$100,000 Paving Loan Rescinded

Representatives of the G.A.R. posts of this city and of the Sons of Veterans appeared before the municipal council at its regular meeting this morning to ask that a more convenient place of assembly for the veterans be provided than is now on hand. It was stated that the climbing which the veterans have to do to get into Memorial hall or the halls of the other posts had resulted in practically one-third of the old soldiers being unable to meet their comrades. No suggestion was offered as to where the veterans should go, but it was advocated that a central site, easy of access, be chosen. The council expressed its willingness to do what it could for the veterans and it was finally decided that they should choose a committee to bring in definite recommendations.

Other features of this morning's meeting which lasted nearly an hour and a half were the rescinding of the order passed last week in Mayor Thompson's absence borrowing $100,000 for paving and the substitution of an order providing for the borrowing of $35,000 for this work. It was also voted to borrow $15,000 for macadam work, although at last week's meeting of the council, Commissioner Murphy had asked that $75,000 be borrowed for this work.

During the meeting Commissioner Marchand announced that as far as his end was concerned, he would be ready to call for bids for the construction of a new high school in Kirk street tomorrow morning. He felt that something should be done right away and suggested that the school committee be invited to attend next week's meeting of the council to make definite plans for the project. Mayor Thompson felt it would be better to consult the convenience of the members of the committee whereupon Mr. Marchand withdrew his motion.

Commissioner Morse was authorized to make a requisition of the purchasing agent for a centrifugal pump to cost not more than $1000. It is to be used in the water department.

Meeting in Detail
The meeting was called at 10:15. Commissioner Marchand was absent but came in later.

L. A. Derby, representing the Sons of Veterans, said that at the present time there are 175 G.A.R. veterans in Lowell and that they have no convenient place of meeting. So inconvenient is the location of their post halls, that fully one-third of them are unable to meet each other in social or business intercourse. He felt the city should do something to provide them a central place of congregation.

D. L. Page and F. S. Pevey of the G.A.R. spoke along the same lines as Mr. Derby. Mr. Pevey called attention to the fact that the city government of 1892 had promised recruits to the army, that it would do all it could for them upon their return. He would like to have the present government carry out that promise.

In answer to a question of Mayor Thompson as to whether the veterans had any particular place in mind, Mr. Derby said that they did not. It was finally agreed that the veterans should appoint a committee to bring in definite suggestions. Before this decision was reached, the council gave its unanimous approval to the idea that a central place be obtained for the veterans until the new auditorium is built.

"Temptation" Not Allowed Here—Suggestive Film Condemned

"Temptation," the eugenics film which a local theatre advertised for presentation today, Wednesday and Thursday, will not be shown here inasmuch as Mayor Perry D. Thompson has opposed its presentation following a second adverse report this afternoon, from his Committee for Better Motion Pictures. Members of this committee viewed the film yesterday and pronounced it unfit for presentation. It was pleaded that perhaps, with certain eliminations, the film could be shown with propriety, and the committee agreed to see it again today.

The second showing took place this afternoon at 1 o'clock, and even with the eliminations, the play was considered by the committee unfit for public display. They reported this to the mayor and, accordingly, he decided that it should not be shown here.

RADIO TELEPHONE TEST

WASHINGTON, March 11.—Secretary Daniels talked today by radio telephone with Ensign Harry Fagen Water, in a navy flying boat, en route from Washington to Hampton Roads. WASHINGTON, March 11.—Approval has been given by the war department of the completion of Camp Benning, at Columbus, Ga., for use as a small arms training center. About $6,000,000 will be spent on the project.

TORONTO, Ont., March 11.—President McCaffery of the Toronto club of the International league, announced today that Syracuse and Newark would again be in the league, but under new management.

EASTON, March 11.—The selection of this town at noon today said 20 applications for liquor licenses had been received. The town voted for license for the first time in 25 years.

PLAN GIGANTIC ATTACK
Government Forces To Storm Spartacus' Stronghold in Suburb of Berlin

BERLIN, Monday, March 10.—(Noon, by the Associated Press)—Government troops were busy today driving Spartacus bands from various sections of Berlin, and preparing for a determined effort against the Spartacus stronghold of Lichtenberg, a suburb east of the city, where the reds are reported to have large depots of weapons and ammunition. Government troops sent to Lichtenberg Sunday to protect the postoffice and police station were annihilated by the Spartacans.

All the soldiers and police officials who were not killed during the fighting for the postoffice and police station or who did not escape from the buildings were murdered by the Spartacans. Many were tortured and

"Temptation" Not Allowed Here—Suggestive Film Condemned

"Temptation," the eugenics film which a local theatre advertised for presentation today, Wednesday and Thursday, will not be shown here inasmuch as Mayor Perry D. Thompson has opposed its presentation following a second adverse report this afternoon, from his Committee for Better Motion Pictures. Members of this committee viewed the film yesterday and pronounced it unfit for presentation. It was pleaded that perhaps, with certain eliminations, the film could be shown with propriety, and the committee agreed to see it again today.

The second showing took place this afternoon at 1 o'clock, and even with the eliminations, the play was considered by the committee unfit for public display. They reported this to the mayor and, accordingly, he decided that it should not be shown here.

RADIO TELEPHONE TEST

WASHINGTON, March 11.—Secretary Daniels talked today by radio telephone with Ensign Harry Fagen Water, in a navy flying boat, en route from Washington to Hampton Roads. Communication was established at a distance of more than 150 miles, by far the longest transmission of radio telephone signals with an airplane in flight ever achieved.

BRIEF BUT IMPORTANT WIRE DESPATCHES

BOSTON, March 11.—A second arrest in connection with the recent failure of the brokerage house of Fairman & Brooks, was made today when Edward A. Brown of Cambridge was charged with larceny and conspiracy. The amount named in the larceny charge was $8936, the same as that charged against John J. Korwin, former bookkeeper for the firm, who was arrested last week.

BOSTON, March 11.—The sale of Infielder R. D. Conway to the Memphis club, was announced by the management of the Boston Nationals today.

WASHINGTON, March 11.—Approval has been given by the war department of the completion of Camp Benning, at Columbus, Ga., for use as a small arms training center. About $6,000,000 will be spent on the project.

TORONTO, Ont., March 11.—President McCaffery of the Toronto club of the International league, announced today that Syracuse and Newark would again be in the league, but under new management.

EASTON, March 11.—The selection of this town at noon today said 20 applications for liquor licenses had been received. The town voted for license for the first time in 25 years.

PLAN GIGANTIC ATTACK
Government Forces To Storm Spartacus' Stronghold in Suburb of Berlin

BERLIN, Monday, March 10.—(Noon, by the Associated Press)—Government troops were busy today driving Spartacus bands from various sections of Berlin, and preparing for a determined effort against the Spartacus stronghold of Lichtenberg, a suburb east of the city, where the reds are reported to have large depots of weapons and ammunition. Government troops sent to Lichtenberg Sunday to protect the postoffice and police station were annihilated by the Spartacans.

All the soldiers and police officials who were not killed during the fighting for the postoffice and police station or who did not escape from the buildings were murdered by the Spartacans. Many were tortured and try has participated. A resolution giving this endorsement was unanimously passed by the council.

BRAND KAISER ARCHCRIMINAL

Solemn Declaration of All Nations Assembled at Peace Conference

Even His Own Country May Be Called Upon To Subscribe to Decision

PARIS, Monday, March 10.—It will be the fate of former Emperor William to be branded for all time as an archcriminal by the solemn declaration of all the nations assembled at the peace conference, to which even his own country may be called upon to subscribe in the peace terms, according to the present plans of what is believed to be a majority of the commission on responsibility for the war.

The report of this commission will be ready within a few days, and the indications are that the members are harmonious on the main points. There are likely to be differences, however, regarding subordinate German officials, although at present a majority of the commission is understood to hold that they can be punished for orders given or acts permitted by them in violation of the national laws of Germany or the rules of war. Such a rule would apply to the officer who executed Captain Freytag, but not to the executor of Edith Cavell, who, it is pointed out, might have been technically guilty of espionage. No doubt is felt as to the liability to punishment of a German officer taken prisoner of war and found guilty of atrocities.

SHIELDS TRIAL MARCH 24

CAMBRIDGE, March 11.—George Shields of Lowell, charged with the murder of Mrs. Rose Trainor, to whom he was related by marriage, pleaded not guilty in the superior court here today. March 24 was set for the trial.

BUFFALOES FOR SALE
First Herd Ever Offered For Sale in Open Market

OMAHA, Neb., March 11.—What is said to be the first herd of buffalo ever offered for sale in an open market in the world was received in South Omaha yesterday.

The herd of 25 is part of a herd of 350 from the Trinchera ranch formerly owned by General Palmer and located near Fort Grand, Colo.

The herd being privately owned and raised on a private ranch, the government has offered no objections to the sale.

OMAHA, Neb., March 11.—Buffalo steak will be on sale at public markets here within a few days. It will probably sell for around $1 a pound.

NEUTRALIZATION OF AUSTRIA DISCUSSED

PARIS, Monday, March 10. (By the Associated Press).—While the possible neutralization of Austria has not as yet come before the "big five" in a formal manner, it is being discussed here. Certain socialistic elements in Austria are striving hard to prevent neutralization, but other influences are anxious to see it effected as it would give Austria protection similar to that enjoyed by Switzerland.

SAILOR COHEN NOT ARRESTED

Burglar Arrested in Dracut Store Early This Morning

"I fired three shots at him and if the three had taken effect I would not be sorry. A man who commits robbery takes his life in his own hands."

This was the statement of a plucky woman to a Sun reporter today. The woman was Mrs. Mabel Peabody of Dracut and her statement had to do with a recent burglary. Mrs. Peabody conducts a variety store in Bridge street, Centre village, and when she said she fired three shots at him, she meant Fred Cote, whose rather sensational arrest occurred in Dracut early this morning.

The shooting dates back a couple of weeks when a burglar entered her store and got away with $25 in cash and cigars and tobacco to the value of $35. The burglary was committed in the night-time and since then Mrs. Peabody has slept in the store, armed and ready to deal with burglars at a moment's notice.

A few nights later she was aroused from what was not a very deep slumber, for she said she slept with one eye and both ears open, by a noise at one of the windows and later she saw a man try to pry open the window. She never moved, but laid a firm hand on the gun that she had with her, and as the burglar was about to enter the

Pershing Designates Ships To Bring 26th Division Home

WASHINGTON, March 11.—General Pershing called the war department today that the 26th (New England National Guard) Division, would embark from Brest for Boston, in the first half of April, aboard the following transports: Agamemnon, Mount Vernon, America, Von Steuben, Koonland, George Washington and President Grant.

The announcement does not change previous statements as to the time when this division will begin to move homeward, but does definitely establish the ships to be used and probably establishes for embarkation of fashals the time that will be required to bring the entire division to Boston, where it is anticipated a great reception will be accorded the troops and a divisional parade be arranged. The process is similar to that followed in the case of the 27th (New York National Guard) Division, a large portion of which has already reached the camps around New York.

The only division in addition to these two which is expected will be paraded as a unit on its return is the 42nd (Rainbow) Division, which is tentatively scheduled to be reviewed in Washington.

FORMER KING'S NARROW ESCAPE

GENEVA, Monday, March 10.—Former King William of Wurtemberg had a narrow escape from drowning today during a scuffle when a party of German sailors from Kiel seized his yacht on Lake Constance to use it for fishing.

Disorders along the Rhine towns not under allied occupations are continuing. The German and Austrian consuls have been withdrawn from the Lake Constance territory because of the hostile attitude of the peasantry.

GOVERNMENT MAY TAKE HAND IN N. Y. STRIKE

NEW YORK, March 11.—With many of the great trans-Atlantic steamship lines here tied up by the strike of longshoremen which was called yesterday in support of the striking harbor workers, threats were made today by the Marine Workers' affiliation to force the strike against the railroad administration based on the alleged violation of some terms of the recent settlement. The independent boat owners again have rejected the terms under which settlement between the railroad and their harbor employees was reached.

That the federal government might intervene and operate privately owned boats, in order to keep the port open to foreign commerce, was considered a possibility by many shipping men here.

Officials of the house-renters' union, who claimed that 20,000 of their members already were on strike, said today that the strike might eventually spread to include 50,000 workers.

A number of large liners ready to sail for Europe were still in port today unable to proceed for lack of coal. Among these were the liners Cronos, Mauretania, Lapland and Niagara.

REP. MANDELL G.O.P. FLOOR LEADER

WASHINGTON, March 11.—Representative Frank Mandell of Wyoming was chosen republican floor leader in the next house today after Representative Mann of Illinois, leader in the last congress, had been elected on the first ballot by the republican conference and had declined to accept.

TWO SMALL FIRES
There were two telephone alarms this forenoon one at 6:10 o'clock for a blaze in the coal pocket at Horne's coal yard and the other for a brush fire at the First street dump. There was no damage.

FOE'S ARMY CUT TO POLICE FORCE

PARIS, Monday, March 10 (3.10 p. m.).—Military Germany will go out of existence as the result of the adoption by the supreme council tonight of the military terms of German disarmament as they will go into the peace treaty. These terms provide for a reduction of the military establishment to 100,000 men with 4000 officers, the army to be recruited by the voluntary system for 12 years. The effect of this is to limit Germany's military strength for the next 12 years to less than the number of men Switzerland has in her army.

Destroy Forts Along Rhine

Other provisions in the military terms limit the arms and munitions Germany may possess to a quantity sufficient for 100,000 men. All the remainder must be delivered or destroyed. The German forts along the Rhine also must be destroyed. The imperial general staff is abolished.

Raised by Voluntary System

Discussion of the subject was taken up with Marshal Foch's report on Pre-

REPUTED RECAPTURE OF RIGA DENIED

COPENHAGEN, March 11.—The recently reported recapture of Riga, on the Baltic coast, is denied in a Berlin despatch received here. The German troops, it is stated, are still a considerable distance from Riga.

NEWS OF THE DAY IN THE POLICE COURT

"It was like this, judge. I go to work for this fellow two months ago, and—" "Are you guilty or not guilty?" asked the court for the second time. "Well, judge, it was this way. I go to work and this fellow says to me—" "The question is, did you or did you not steal this property with which you are charged?" repeated Judge Wright. "Well, judge," came back defendant for the third time, "it was just like this. I go to work for this fellow and he says to me—" "Continue the case until tomorrow morning," ordered the court.

JOBS FOR 200,000 IN NEW FORD FACTORY

DETROIT, Mich., March 11.—Plans of Henry Ford for a new company to produce a lower priced automobile than any at present extensively marketed contemplate employment of possibly 200,000 workers. He said today that the new corporation would in no way interfere with the present Ford Motor Co., that he had no intention of relinquishing control of the majority stock of the old company and that he was not in the market for a single share owned by other stockholders.

He indicated a year might be required to perfect plans.

GEN. KENLY RELIEVED

WASHINGTON, March 11.—Major General William L. Kenly, director of military aeronautics, was relieved of that post today and, in his permanent grade of colonel, was ordered to report to the chief of field artillery for duty. Brigadier General William Mitchell will be detailed to command the army aviation service.

HORSES FOR SALE

Commissioner Morse of the water works department will soon dispose of two horses of that department, inasmuch as they are eating their heads off and not doing a great deal of work. He does not consider them necessary, if they are sold there will remain but three horses in the department.

CONFERENCE ON AERIAL NAVIGATION POSTPONED

PARIS, March 11.—(By The Associated Press)—Like the international wireless conference which assembled here several weeks ago, a similar gathering which was intended to deal with problems relating to aerial navigation has been compelled to postpone its work indefinitely after perfecting its organization.

More suggestions of the extensive plans which were to be considered developed the day that most nations might be obliged to make wholly unexpected changes in their fundamental laws if they participated in decisions which necessitated the reference of many problems to home governments.

The air conference was to be merely a French and possibly a British affair, but the appearance in Paris of accredited delegates of many other nations, made it necessary to hold matters in abeyance for the time being.

The delegates to the peace conference were quick to see that what amounted to a control of aerial navigation might be involved in matters pertaining to the conference and lost no time in demanding that their nations be represented.

The first international medical aeronautical congress opened here yesterday, its object being to promote the study of medical problems arising from aviation. Resolutions dealing with physical and psychological tests applicable to candidates for pilot's licenses, the control of flights to high altitudes and the use of oxygen by aviators were presented, and the hope was expressed that these resolutions would be taken into account in an international aerial code was drafted. It was decided to form a permanent committee to present the views of the medical profession in matters pertaining to aviation. Prof. Gullane of the University of Paris was elected president.

The United States is represented at the congress by Dr. L. G. Howntree of Minneapolis.

HOME GARDENERS BRUSHING UP

The open weather of the past few weeks has caused thousands of Lowell home gardeners to turn their thoughts to seeds, fertilizers and all of the various paraphernalia necessary for the ambitious back yard farmer and farmette, and from present indications the peace gardens of 1919 promise to far outstrip any ambitions of the war-time year just passed.

Garden gossip is being heard on all sides. Neighbors who meet mornings in the suburban and outlying districts of the city are heard to remark: "Good weather for potatoes. Looks like it's about time to get that garden plowed," and so on.

There are some pretty ambitious plans being outlined in Lowell homes just now, and if all the hopes and ambitions are realized there will be many cellars heaped full and overflowing.

Famous Old Recipe for Cough Syrup

Easily and cheaply made at home, but it beats them all for quick results.

Thousands of housewives have found that they can save two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, by using this well-known old recipe for making cough syrup at home. It is simple and cheap to make, but it really has no equal for prompt results. It takes right hold of a cough and gives immediate relief, usually stopping an ordinary cough in 24 hours or less.

Get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist, pour it into a pint bottle, and add plain granulated sugar syrup to make a full pint. If you prefer, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, keeps perfectly, and lasts a family a long time.

It's truly astonishing how quickly it acts, penetrating through every air passage of the throat and lungs—loosens and raises the phlegm, soothes and heals the membranes, and gradually but surely the annoying throat tickle and dreaded cough disappear entirely. Nothing better for bronchitis, spasmodic croup, whooping cough or bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, known the world over for its healing effect on the membrane.

Avoid disappointment by asking your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

CHICAGO HOTEL FIRE

250 Men and Women Assisted Down Fire Escapes—Many Fainted

CHICAGO, March 11.—Half a dozen women fainted, as many others were overcome by smoke and these with nearly 225 men and women employees of the Morrison hotel were assisted down fire escapes early today during a fire in a five-story brick annex to the hotel, which is used as a dormitory for the employees. Those overcome by smoke were carried into the hotel drug store and were soon revived.

Guests of the hotel, located at the southeast corner of Clark and Madison streets, were aroused and notified to leave the structure, as a precautionary measure. The fire did not reach the hotel proper, however, being confined in the annex on the Clark street side. The fourth and fifth floors were burned before the blaze was brought under control. The damage was estimated at $50,000.

There were 1600 guests in the hotel, of whom about 500 left the building. A report that two maids were missing led to a search of the burned annex as soon as firemen could enter the structure, but no bodies were found.

mier Lloyd George's proposal to reduce Germany's armed force from 200,000, as had been suggested, to 110,000 men and to substitute voluntary for compulsory service as the basis for debate. Marshal Foch favored the change as the conscription plan providing for 200,000 men serving one-year terms

As against this Mr. Lloyd George proposed to fix the enlistment term at 12 years. Marshal Foch embodied this in his report, which proposed an army of 140,000 men, but the council finally adopted an amendment reducing this figure to 100,000.

To End Conscription

One of Premier Lloyd George's main purposes in substituting voluntary service for the conscription system was to pave the way for the disappearance of the conscription system throughout Europe, as it was believed that the effect of the abolition of the system in Germany would be that the other European countries would generally follow it, thus ending the menace of large standing armies and their provocation to warfare.

Naval Terms Already Adopted

The council has already adopted the naval terms of the treaty, except for a few reserved provisions, which will be discussed tomorrow.

The progress that has been made with the work of framing the peace treaty ensures the completion of the task by March 20. The first rough draft will be in readiness when President Wilson arrives in France on Thursday, and the revision will be concluded before the 20th. It is the present purpose of the peace conference to call the Germans to Versailles soon after March 20, probably from March 22 to March 25. The document then will be delivered to the German delegates and in case they are not prepared to sign it at once, they will be given the opportunity to return to Germany to consider it and return for the formal signing at Versailles.

This plan obviates the necessity of holding sessions for debate at Versailles and restricts the functions to be conducted with the Germans to the delivery of the document and their return for its signature or such other action as they desire to take.

It is known definitely that Count von Bernstorff, formerly German ambassador to the United States, will not be one of the German delegates at Versailles.

Premiers in Daily Conferences

The presence of Premier Lloyd

George in Paris is permitting daily conferences of the premiers of the powers as a sort of steering committee to direct the course of the main work of the conference. The session this morning was attended by Premiers Clemenceau and Lloyd George and Col. House, representing President Wilson. Premier Orlando of Italy will join the other premiers tomorrow and when President Wilson arrives, it is expected that these conferences of the government heads will gradually take the place of the council of the great powers, which experience has shown to give too much time to speeches. The conferences of the premiers, on the other hand, are providing an effective executive organization for the rapid discharge of business. This rapidly narrows the drafting of the peace within the limit fixed, a week from next Thursday.

DON'T FORGET BOOKS FOR SOLDIERS

A message of commendation from the headquarters of the A.L.A. war service, Boston, has just been received by Librarian Chase of the Lowell public library, for the way the latter has handled the books for the soldiers' campaign in Lowell. Dr. C. O. S. Mawson, head of the war service, mentions the latest appeal for books in The Sun, and tells Librarian Chase to keep on with his successful campaign.

Two hundred books will be sent to Boston at the end of this week, if possible, for the entertainment of the boys over there. Any magazine, not more than six months old, and all recent books of fiction, are especially desirable. The rapid response to the recent appeal has been very gratifying to the Boston office, and also to Mr. Chase, and if the people of Lowell will continue to bear in mind the needs of the soldiers overseas, Mr. Chase believes that Lowell will be

More Serious Now

Than Ever Before Because of War-Reduced Reserve Strength

The war has been far-reaching in its effects. It has caused worry and anxiety in every home, and has affected the health of every family. It has aggravated chronic troubles, increased their tenacity, and made all Spring ailments more serious.

As a result, a blood-purifying, stomach-toning Spring medicine is more necessary this year than ever. People still take Hood's Sarsaparilla because it is an old family friend, has proved its merit to three generations—as a Spring and all-the-year-round medicine in purifying the blood, expelling humors, restoring appetite, relieving rheumatism, banishing that tired feeling.

It combats roots, barks, herbs and berries often prescribed by physicians for Spring ailments of the blood, stomach, liver and kidneys. Hood's Pills are a good cathartic.

found to have done its share and then some when the boys have all come back and the reports of the different cities are totaled up for final reckoning.

When the book shelves are gone over this spring it is the hope of the A.L.A. war service that all fiction that will not be read will be saved and taken to the public library. These extra books will be forwarded to Boston and sent across the sea to keep the boys in khaki and blue cheerful and contented while they are waiting for that most welcome order of all—"Homeward Bound."

court this morning on a complaint charging him with the larceny of valves and pipe fittings valued at about $100 from the Wilson English Construction company, and tomorrow morning, with the aid of an interpreter, it is expected that he will be able to go a little further into the matter of "what the feller said" to him than was possible today. As an incentive to defendant's appearance at this time bail was set at $500, and a plea of not guilty entered by the clerk.

An Obstreperous Passenger

Verne Gillman was charged with drunkenness, and on another complaint with assault and battery on Roy L. Emery, and also with creating a disturbance in a public conveyance.

Emery, who is a motorman on the Highland line of the Bay State railway, testified that defendant was riding in from Dracut on his car about 10:30 last evening, and that his language was so profane that he was escorted to the door. This did not meet with Gillman's approval, and he showed his indignation by tearing the motorman's sweater and afterwards pushing his strong right arm through the glass panel in the rear door of the car. An officer happened along about this time and Gillman was taken to the station.

Gillman's alibi was the old familiar excuse that "he was so drunk he couldn't remember anything about it."

He was found guilty by Judge Enright and ordered to pay a fine of $15 and also to make restitution for the damage to Emery's clothing.

Sent to Reformatory

Adelard Rochette, a Lowell young man who has been identified with several of the recent breaks throughout the city, was called on continuance on several charges of breaking, entering and larceny, and was given a direct sentence to the Massachusetts reformatory.

Other Offenders

Entoine Dineas was called on a complaint made by his wife to the effect that he has failed persistently to do his bit in the way of providing for his family's support. Defendant agreed to kick in with $5 a week from now on, and with this understanding he was placed on probation by the court.

Several members of the anti-temperance battalion drew down suspended sentences, and the probation officer issued free passes to five first timers.

COMMUNISTS ROUTED IN BATTLE AT BUDAPEST

BASLE, Monday, March 10.—Communists attacked the parliament house at Budapest on Saturday night, according to a despatch received by the Basle Nachrichten. Several banks and government buildings were under attack but government troops defeated the communists and drove them out of the city.

Burglar Arrested in Dracut

store she fired point blank at him, but missed him. The burglar, realizing no doubt, that he was in a danger zone, "beat it" for all he was worth and was soon out of sight, despite the fact that Mrs. Peabody lost no time in reaching the street.

Yesterday afternoon a neighbor saw two suspicious characters in the vicinity of the store and she notified the storekeeper. Not wishing to take any chances with two men, Mrs. Peabody in turn notified Officer Clinton Coffin, who planned to spend the night at the store with Officer William Lavell and the two officers, well armed, called at the store at 10:30 o'clock last evening and at 11 o'clock when the place was closed for the night they requested Mrs. Peabody to go to her home, but she declined, saying she might be of some assistance to the officers and she went to her improvised "bed" under the counter opposite the window which had been visited on two previous occasions.

Walked Right In

The trio waited patiently for something to turn up and they were finally rewarded, for shortly before 1 o'clock this morning the footsteps of a man were heard in the rear of the building. Pretty soon a tap was heard in the rear window and later the store door was opened with a skeleton key and a young man wended his way to the cash drawer in the rear of the store. The intruder walked cautiously and held his right hand in his coat pocket. The two officers and Mrs. Peabody stopped breathing for a second for fear of being detected, and just as the visitor was about to lay his left hand on the cash drawer, for he held his right hand in his coat pocket, Officer Coffin pounced on him and flashing a revolver in his face, ordered him to "throw up his hands." At that very moment Officer Coffin turned on the light, and the burglar obeyed the command. Officer Coffin quickly placed his hand in the intruder's pocket and pulled out a 32-calibre revolver fully loaded. The prisoner was handcuffed and taken to the station.

When questioned at the station he gave his name as Fred Cote and said he made his home at 165 Suffolk street, this city. In his pockets were found five cartridges, a screw driver, a small hammer, a flashlight, a bunch of keys, a large jackknife and a pair of cotton gloves as well as about a half-dozen cigars and some candy. The young man was hooked at the station and later the two Dracut officers in company with Patrolman Adolard Cossette visited his home at 165 Suffolk street, where the following articles were found: An automatic revolver, a 32-calibre revolver, three fountain pens, six knives, a safety razor, several pieces of shaving soap and razor blades as well as other articles, including a large box filled with one and two-cent postage stamps. There were also two soldiers' uniforms, one of which marked "A. Dufree." Several of the articles found in Cote's room were later identified by Charles Sharf as his property. Mr. Sharf informed the police that the articles were taken from his store in School street when the place was broken into a few weeks ago. Cote was arraigned in police court this morning and when asked to plead to a charge of carrying a dangerous weapon and also of breaking and entering the store of Mrs. Mabel Peabody in Dracut during the night with attempt to commit larceny, he admitted his guilt and his case was continued for a week, bail being fixed at $1200. Later he was taken to a local photographer, where his picture was taken and then he was finger printed.

THE NEW REVENUE BILL

Liberal Deductions For Business Expenses Are Allowed by New Bill

"Liberal deductions for business expenses are allowed by the new revenue bill," said Collector of Internal Revenue John F. Malley during an interview with this paper.

"Business expenses" are the amounts actually paid or incurred during the tax year in the conduct of a business, trade or profession. In computing net income a merchant may deduct his profits on the following basis:

First, ascertain the gross sales, and the other items of gross income, such as interest on bank balances and miscellaneous items. Then add together the inventory at the beginning of the year and the cost of goods purchased for resale. From this sum subtract the inventory at the end of the year, and the result is the cost of goods sold. This cost, plus necessary business expenses is to be deducted from the gross sales and other income, and the result is the net income of the business.

If the taxpayer's accounts are kept on a receipts and payments basis, the return may be made in accordance therewith.

A merchant may claim as deductions the amount paid for advertising, hire of clerks and other employees, the cost of light and fuel, water, telephone, etc., used in his place of business, the cost of operating delivery wagons, motor trucks and incidental repairs to such vehicles.

Amounts expended in entertaining an out-of-town customer may be deducted if the sole purpose is to cultivate the good will of the customer and obtain a increase in trade.

A physician may claim as deductions the cost of medicines and medical supplies used by him in his practice, a reasonable proportion of the expenses paid in the maintenance and repair of an automobile used in making professional calls, the expenses of attending medical conventions, dues to medical societies and subscriptions to medical journals, the rent for office rooms, the cost of heat, water, telephone, etc., used in such office rooms and the hire of office assistants. If his office is a rented home, he may claim as a deduction that proportion of the rent properly chargeable to the rooms used for professional purposes. The same deductions are allowed a dentist.

The farmer may deduct all amounts paid in preparing his land for a crop, and the cultivation, harvesting and marketing of the crop. The cost of seed and fertilizer used and amounts spent in caring for live stock are deductible items. The cost of minor repairs to farm buildings, other than the dwellings, and of fences, farm machinery and wagons may be claimed, also the cost of farm tools which are used upon the course of a year or two and of materials for immediate use, such as binding twine, stock powders, etc. The cost of machinery of a permanent character, such as threshing machine or tractor is held to be a capital investment, and is not allowable deduction. Deduction may be made for rent paid for a farm.

This, in a general way, outlines the ordinary expenses incurred by a merchant, professional man or farmer, and the principle underlying these allowances is equally applicable in the conduct of any trade, business or profession. In short, all expenses connected directly and solely with the conduct of an income-producing business, trade, profession or vocation are allowable.

BLANCHETTE HELD FOR GRAND JURY

In the arrest of Lucien Blanchette, a young man residing in Crawford st. which occurred a couple of days ago, the police believe they have arrested the last of a gang of young men, who were responsible for a number of breaks in this city and Lawrence. Blanchette was arrested by local officers with the assistance of Lawrence officers and he was immediately taken to the downtown city on complaints charging him with breaking and entering and larceny and is now being held for the grand jury of Essex county.

Blanchette, it is believed was connected with Alfred Harrois and Conrad Christian, who were arrested some time ago for the Lawrence police. In numerous breaks which were committed in this city and Lawrence. It is claimed that some time ago the three entered a house in Worthen st. and stole Liberty bonds and war savings stamps amounting to several hundred dollars and later they entered a couple of jewelry stores and made their escape with considerable jewelry. The booty, so it is claimed, was stored in a room in Appleton street and while Christian and Harrois were away from the room, it is claimed Blanchette entered the apartment and took away with him the bag containing the booty.

The police allege that the Liberty bonds and war savings stamps were destroyed, but inasmuch as they were registered, the owners will recover from the federal government. The remainder of the booty was stored away in the cabinet of a talking machine in Blanchette's home, where it was recovered by Inspector Brauk and Lawrence police officers. The police believe that among the goods recovered are some that were stolen from a house in Carlton street several weeks ago, where Liberty bonds and pieces of silverware were taken.

Your Other Brain

Down in the abdominal cavity lies a great "plexus" or network of nerve centres, that has been called the "abdominal-brain." It cannot think. Its functions are to superintend and keep in operation various mechanical processes, such as the proper secretion of moisture by intestinal glands and adequate action of intestinal muscles in the walls of the bowels.

It receives messages from nerves in various regions of the body, but being unable to reason, it often acts blindly, imperfectly, or improperly. It may stop secretion, lessen muscular action—and the result is constipation.

Castor oil, pills, salts, mineral waters, etc., do not reason with the abdominal brain, they force it to temporary action, to unnatural effort, until the bowels move. But this is followed by a sulky attitude or even a "strike" by your other brain, and the constipation is increased not cured.

90% of human illness results from self-poisoning, caused by constipation.

But Nujol acts differently. Nujol is not a drug, does not act like any drug.

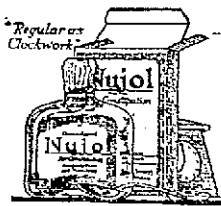

Nujol acts mechanically to coar the bowels to move easily and thoroughly at regular intervals.

Nujol supplies necessary moisture to bowel contents, makes it easier for tired intestinal muscles to act, absorbs poisonous matter, overcomes stagnation and by so doing persuades the abdominal brain to act rationally and efficiently. Nujol has no deleterious after effects, forms good habits instead of bad ones, overcomes constipation at any age, under any conditions.

GIRLS! BEAUTIFY YOUR HAIR AND STOP DANDRUFF

Hair Becomes Charmin, Wavy, Lustrous and Thick in Few Moments

Every Bit of Dandruff Disappears and Hair Stops Coming Out

For a few cents you can save your hair. In less than ten minutes you can double its beauty. Your hair becomes light wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and charming as a young girl's after applying some Danderine. Also try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt or excessive oil, and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair. A delightful surprise awaits those whose hair has been neglected or is scraggy, faded, dry, brittle or thin. Besides beautifying the hair, Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair growing all over the scalp. If you care for pretty, soft hair, and lots of it, surely get a small bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter and just try it.

BETTER PACKING AND MARKING

That the campaign for better packing and marking of express shipments has achieved concrete results was indicated by the reports made at the better service meeting of local express employees yesterday. Agent Langley announced that not only were packages being received in better condition for shipment, but that there was a noticeable falling off in number of consignments sent to the "No Mark" bureau of the express company.

Before the drive, at least 25,000 packages of all conceivable kinds and sizes, he said, were received by those "dead-letter" offices of the business, but already this figure has been cut in half and there was every reason to expect that it would be brought down to a negligible quantity.

"Four Minute" speeches urging the expressmen to live up to the new slogan of "better service," were a feature of the meeting, which is to be the last of the present campaign. The better service campaign committee, formed among the local force and composed of J. H. Howe, D. F. Dilworth, F. W. Ellen, H. Forrest, L. P. Delaney, had an opportunity to tell their fellow workers what they had done during the campaign, and why they believed that the results of the co-operation extended to them by shippers would be far-reaching.

The purposes of the campaign, it was stated, will always be a dominant policy of the company in accepting business in the future. Proper packing and correct marking, Agent Langley declared, will always be required, when shipments are accepted by the express service for transportation. This, he added, would be to the interest of the shippers themselves, as well as to that of the express company.

It was intimated that the express workers will not be allowed to let their

SHIFT TO "WET" COLUMN

Seven Massachusetts Towns

Fall Off Wagon—Weymouth Dry For 29 Years

BOSTON, March 11.—Liquor advocates maintained today that the continued shifting of smaller towns in this state from "dry" to "wet" was in the nature of a protest against the national prohibition amendment. Anti-saloon leaders, however, said that the change was mainly due to apathy on the part of the voters.

Returns from yesterday's voting

showed eight towns favoring legalizing the sale of liquor.

Three south shore towns, Weymouth and Hingham, which have been no license places for more than a quarter of a century, and Scituate with a dry record of 11 years, shifted to license. Easton, Rockland and Abington, also went "wet" following the example set by a number of other towns in the Old Colony district which voted a week ago. Other towns changing to license were Hudson and Ipswich.

Three towns, Amesbury, Needham and Amherst, voted to remain dry.

MOSCOW A "GRAVEYARD"

Typhus Adding to the Horrors of Hunger and Disorder There

PARIS, March 10.—(By the Associated Press)—Typhus is adding to the horrors of hunger and disorder in Moscow which the population has christened "the graveyard," according to a British business man who has just arrived in Paris from Russia. There are no disinfectants, medicines or soap. Hot water is scarce because of the shortage of fuel and the result is that the freezing and disheartened public is unable to protect itself.

Recently railway officials in Moscow ordered the crowd out of the central railway station in order to clean it and found the bodies of five victims of typhus which had been lying for days among the peasants sleeping on the floor. The undertakers are unable to meet the demands upon them and the bodies of typhus victims await burial for weeks.

The winter has been unusually cold in Moscow and there has been no heat in the houses. The non-Bolshevik population in so underfed that it has been unable to resist disease.

Upon the orders of the Soviet government the signs of all private concerns have been removed and virtually all the remaining stores have been nationalized but the stocks are so small that the clerks make little effort to serve the public. The shops open at 10 in the morning and close at 4 o'clock and by 6 o'clock the streets are dark and deserted.

The business man says that Russians of all classes are serving the Soviet government in order to protect their families and to secure food, but that the Russian red guards say frankly they will not fight for the Bolsheviks against organized forces from outside Russia.

When the British left Moscow cat and dog meat were selling for five rubles a pound and horse meat was bringing 15 rubles a pound. Beef occasionally was sold secretly by the peasants for 25 rubles a pound. Butter, when available brought 150 rubles a pound. Sugar brought the same but was hard to get. Occasionally a little black flour sold in villages distant from Moscow and Petrograd for about $2 a pound. Ruble exchange fluctuated between six and 10 cents.

Lack of coal and oil and the dilapidation of the rolling stock, have reduced the number of street cars and railway trains so that there is great congestion at stations, resulting in the spread of disease. The railway trains are not heated and scores of passengers have frozen to death in Russia.

The business man visited Petrograd late in January and says that the situation there was worse than at Moscow.

"I wish that people outside Russia who insist that the Russians in Soviet Russia should rise and overthrow the Bolsheviks could see the real situation," the Britisher concluded. "They would appreciate how impossible it is to upset Lenin and Trotsky. When armed robbers attack unarmed men, the latter have to surrender their purses. It is the same with the Bolsheviks because they have all the arms and ammunition."

"The scattered groups which have opposed the Bolsheviks did little more than commit suicide. In my opinion, starvation and misery will continue in Moscow and Petrograd until outside pressure forces a change, because the non-Bolsheviks in Soviet Russia are so starved and harassed that they have neither the heart nor the physical strength for effective opposition."

FOR "HOUSEWIVES ASSOCIATION"

A very interesting meeting of the Loomixers' union was held last evening with President J. E. Jemery in the chair. In the course of the meeting routine business was transacted and President Jemery urged the members to interest their wives in the forming of a Housewives' association, the purpose of which would be to bring down the high cost of living. The scheme is that the housekeepers would patronize one or two storekeepers selling living commodities lower than other stores, which would tend to create competition among the retailers, the result of which would be foodstuffs at lower prices.

In explaining the scheme Mr. Jemery stated that it has been tried in Portland, Me., by carpenters, joiners and other organizations and has proven very successful. He said the working people of Portland simply boycotted the retailer who kept the high prices until he felt the pinch of reduced trade, and he said he believed there was a great opportunity for such an organization in Lowell.

Secretary John Hanley was present, after an extended trip on organization throughout New Hampshire and Maine, and he reported conditions excellent everywhere. He said everybody is satisfied with the 45-hour week and everything is running along smoothly.

Routine meetings were also held last evening by the Molders' union and the Brewery Bottlers' union.

THE LOWELL GUILD

The monthly meeting of the council of the Lowell Guild was held at the Guild House, Dutton street Monday morning, the president, Mrs. Edward N. Burke presiding. The supervisors, Mrs. Olson and Miss Pease reported a busy month of work with the following detailed account of the visits:

Total visits for February.....1368
Number of metropolitan visits.....824
Number of regular visits.....514
Number of baby care.....412
Number of babies at conferences.....19
Relief given, 429 quarts of milk, clothing, bedding and shoes.

Co-operating agencies: Lowell General Hospital, Lowell Corporation hospital, social service, social service department, Massachusetts General Hospital (social worker), Knights of Columbus, board of charities, board of health, Massachusetts Charitable Eye and Ear Infirmary and interested individuals.

The weekly conference for babies

have been remarkably well attended and it is hoped in the near future to arrange for a second conference each week. The guild is asked to consider the functions of the child welfare commission as outlined by the council of national defense, which last year instituted the weighing campaign and other measures devised to conserve child-life, for although this was instituted as a war measure it is felt that it is of sufficient permanent value to have it continued and therefore the various nursing associations in the state are asked to "carry on."

The president reported that it was expected that the waste campaign would be held in May and it is urgent that the friends of the guild will save and collect during the house-cleaning season all useless material that can be collected later by means of this campaign for the benefit of the guild.

BILLERICA MURDER TRIAL HERE

The superior court has set the date of March 31 for the trial of Joseph Cordia and Francisco Peri, indicted for the murder of Fred Soulls in Billerica, on Oct. 31, 1918. The trial will take place in Lowell. Daniel J. Donahue and M. J. Rogers are counsel for Cordia, and Myer Sawyer of Boston for Peri.

At the afternoon session of the criminal court yesterday Felix Garneau, who had pleaded guilty of breaking and entering camps in Tyngsboro, was placed on probation, but in the case of Joseph Hasche, who was indicted on the same charge, the jury returned a verdict of guilty, and he was sentenced to the Massachusetts reformatory.

Francis P. Barrett, indicted on several counts of breaking, entering and larceny, pleaded guilty to two of the breaks, and received a six months' sentence to the Lowell jail on each of the two counts.

Stephen E. Shanley pleaded guilty on three counts of breaking and entering, but the district attorney asked for sentence, but the counsel for Shanley pleaded for probation, claiming that he has been subject to bad influences in the city, and that he was soon to remove to Tewksbury with his family.

Judge Dubuque continued the case for three weeks and instructed the probation officer to report the case to the court at that time.

Charles F. Lannon pleaded guilty to breaking and entering and was placed on probation with the understanding he is to enter the United States navy. William Rainville pleaded guilty to receiving stolen property and was fined $75.

The court sits in Cambridge today.

THE "HAND" THAT DRAWS IN TRADE

Did it ever occur to you that well planned, shrewd, sensible advertising could be likened to a hand put out from your place of business to draw in trade?

Comparing the simile further we can say that the better your advertising, the more strength there is in it, the better chance the "hand" has of bringing in trade. The first line of the first page of the primer of advertising says that, "Advertising is the scientific effort of the business man to attract attention to his business with the idea of attracting patronage."

One business man says, "My goods advertise themselves." Yes, but not while they remain on store shelves because folks looked in their evening paper and found no mention of them in the ad columns. Another alleged business man says, "I don't need to advertise because I have the best trimmed windows in the city." Yes, but will he see them on rainy, cold, windy days? What his store is depending on merely its windows to keep the stock turning over?

A third business man says, "I don't need to spend much money on advertising because I now have an established trade." Established trade is a peculiar appurtenance of merchandising. It's like a spring fall of snow—you have it, but you can't get it off. It's established, it's established, and if you don't believe it, ask some of the old boys who lost their "established trade" by failing to keep up their advertising.

But, we must return to the text: "Advertising is a hand to pull in trade and the best 'hand' you can put out to draw in trade in Lowell is an ad in

THE SUN

LOWELL'S GREATEST NEWSPAPER

LOWELL VS. LODGE

Supreme nationalism is the name by which the republicans think they can dignify their opposition to the League of Nations so that it may serve for campaign purposes. We do not deny that honest criticism may prove useful in any case of the kind, but the anti-Wilson sentiment is noticeable in all this criticism now issuing chiefly from republican sources.

The critics, however, are not getting away with many of their groundless statements. Already, President Lowell of Harvard university has challenged Senator Lodge to a joint debate upon the merits of the League of Nations as outlined in the constitution already published. Mr. Lodge of course has accepted, and a very interesting discussion will undoubtedly be the result.

President Lowell has been a prominent co-worker with ex-President Taft for a League to Enforce Peace and he is committed to the principle of the League of Peace. He is to defend the substance of the constitution as published, while Mr. Lodge directs his attack at the constitution of the league in the form in which it is published. That is but a political subterfuge.

In a speech before the convention of the American League to Enforce Peace in 1916, Mr. Lodge committed himself very strongly to the idea of a league of nations to enforce peace throughout the world when he said:

"I know how quickly we shall be met with the statement that this is a dangerous question which you are putting into your agreement; that no nation can submit to the judgment of other nations, and we must be careful at the beginning not to attempt too much. I know the difficulties which arise when we speak of anything which seems to involve an alliance. But I do not believe that when Washington warned us against entangling alliances he meant for one moment that we should not join with other civilized nations of the world, if a method could be found to diminish war and encourage peace."

"It was a year ago that in delivering the chancellor's address at Union college, I made an argument on this theory—that if we were to promote international peace at the close of the present terrible war, if we were to restore international law as it must be restored, we must find some way in which the united forces of the nations must be put behind the cause of peace and law. I said then that my hearers might think that I was picturing a Utopia, but it is in the search for Utopias that great discoveries have been made. Not failure, but low aim is crime."

Earlier in his speech Senator Lodge declared: "The limit of voluntary arbitration has, I think, been reached. . . . I think the next step is that which this league proposes, and that is to put the force behind international peace. We may not solve it in that way, but if we cannot solve it in that way it can be solved in no other."

As an American historian, Mr. Lodge, writing 20 years ago of the policy of Washington and Monroe on the subject of alliances and isolation said:

"They were wise men with wise policies, but they could not read our unknown future nor deal with problems far beyond their ken. They marked the line so far as they could force the course then, and were too cautious to lay down rules and limitations about the unknown such as the doubting and timid of a later generation would from attribute to them. Isolation in the United States has been a habit, not a policy. It has been bred by circumstances and by them justified. When circumstances change the habit perforce changes too, and new policies are born to suit new conditions."

These statements commit Mr. Lodge quite strongly, one might almost say irrevocably, to a League to Enforce Peace, yet in his recent speeches, he makes the most alarming statements in criticism of the constitution of the league as published. He charges that it curtails the sovereignty of the United States government, overthrows the Monroe Doctrine, and would enmesh us in all the wars of Europe and Asia.

The constitution of the League of Nations differs but slightly from that planned by the League to Enforce Peace, at the convention of which Mr. Lodge made the statements quoted above.

In view of such inconsistencies, the course of our senior senator in the debate with President Lowell will be watched with keen interest.

WAVE OF CRIME

There appears to be a wave of crime sweeping over this and other states. It is due, no doubt, to the demoralizing effect of the stories of atrocities in the war, together with the fact that many people are idle and in a desperate state of mind. Juveniles are especially prominent in showing this criminal tendency.

The police of this city will have to bestir themselves to prevent any serious outbreaks here such as have occurred elsewhere. It is true that many of our young people are idle, but it will not help them to engage in any unlawful method of securing money. Robbery in its most simple forms is very serious business, and a single act that will bring a boy or man into court will cast a shadow over his life that he can never dispel. It is really surprising for what a small consideration some young men do things that blast their future opportunities in life. One misstep is enough to destroy the work of a lifetime. Yet many young men seem to commit such acts without a thought of the consequences.

The resorts that encourage or even lead young people to the commission of crime should be watched closely by the police and put out of business.

TO FEED THE HUNS

The peace conference has decided to feed the Germans in order to keep them from starving and as the best means of getting them to pay the heavy indemnities being laid upon them for reparation for Belgium, France, England and Italy.

There is reason to believe that any attempt to treat Germany in a heartless manner or to reciprocate her own cruelty, would make the country a prey to Bolshevism, which nobody wants. If Germany can be helped to stem the Bolshevik tide setting westward, so much the better. General Hindenburg is preparing to strike the followers of Lenin and Trotsky where they threaten Germany and if he does, he will thereby serve the cause of the allies as well as of Germany.

After the peace conference shall have finished its work, the problem of Russia will remain and what the outcome will be is difficult to forecast.

The conditions are most heart-rending in many parts of the country with the scourge of Bolshevism and its concomitant evils—famine, pestilence, steadily becoming worse.

There will be strong objection in some quarters to feeding the Germans, but when France, England and Italy concur, there is no reason why Americans should protest.

DANGEROUS LEADERS

When ministers of the gospel come out in behalf of any dangerous movement, they possess great possibilities of evil. In fact, they become under such conditions, wolves in sheep's clothing. An alleged religious worker has been prominent as a leader in the Lawrence strike, apparently without any regard as to whether the demands of the strikers are just or unjust. Another has won notoriety in New York by denouncing President Wilson as "playing into the hands of the bearers of the red flag." His charge against the president was: "Criminal pussyfooting and playing into the hands of the Bolsheviks and the Bolshevik agitators."

The speaker in the next breath referred to "St. Theodore." That husky the climax and soon three husky sailors were at his side demanding that he apologize. He then declared that "President Wilson is as fine a christian gentleman as we have in America." It would be a good thing for this country if the clergymen of different denominations would confine their activities to religious work and let politics, national or international, alone. Especially is this true of the men who, from lack of sound judgment, are unfitted for leadership.

NOTABLE CONVERSION

Should we not felicitate ourselves a little bit at finding a most radical change of heart on the part of our neighbor, the Courier-Citizen, in reference to the League of Nations to enforce peace? It was certainly an agreeable surprise to find our neighbor coming out with an endorsement of the league in such sentiments as the following:

"Fear and distrust of our fellow beings ought not to prevent us from adopting some form of world alliance, even while we are all agreed that we should be as careful as may be about the particular engagements to which our nation is committed."

It required some hard knocks to bring about this notable conversion, but now that it is done let us all unite in prayer that the sinner will not experience a relapse.

There are some persons who charge that agricultural opposition to the saving daylight scheme was based on the fact that farmers came to think that the extra time a working man gained after work in which to carry on his garden project, made the prices of green vegetables much lower than farmers would like to have them. Mercenary on the part of the farmers, wasn't it? This may not be the true reason, however, as may be understood when it is remembered that at 1 o'clock in the morning is the time the busy farmer has to get up. To get sufficient sleep he must go to bed at 8 p. m. which, under daylight saving, would be before the cows are brought in from pasture.

In a month's time, the price of cucumbers in the Boston market dropped from 50 cents per cask to the present price, 25 cents. Most families, even at two bits per cask, have to regard them as an unattainable luxury. Too bad they couldn't be grown in the sunny window of the average kitchen. Perhaps the right kind of a gardener could do that.

THE MAN ABOUT TOWN

Walter S. Flynn, artist and advertising manager of the C. B. Coburn Co., is receiving many compliments on his excellent pen and ink and brush cards on display in the store windows and throughout the establishment. Walter is very clever in this line of work and many of his cards have brought commendation from local friends as well as agents of the big paint and oil companies, who sell to his firm. The feature of Mr. Flynn's work is that it is of unlimited variety. He has a large and well equipped office on the second floor of the spacious plant and has a splendid set of "tools." These coupled with his ingenuity, enable him to turn out unique, artistic and very attractive work. While his display cards have attracted much attention his newspaper "ads" have also been the subject of considerable favorable comment from authorities on advertising. Many who see Mr. Flynn coming to and from the store fail to realize just what his duties are, but a glance at his display of work will convince anyone that his efforts play an important part in the success of the great store on Market street.

We might, if it wasn't "agin' the rule of the office," possibly use up the entire amount of space allotted for the Man About Town col. to giving our personal testimony as to the general excellence of a new Camp Devens publication called the 36th Infantry Review. But it cannot be done. The reader, however, may gain some idea of how fine a little camp paper the Review is by this selection taken from its editorial page matter:

"Order is heaven's first law, and order comes from first law and obedience. Home life is the basis of the civilized order, and today all hearts are filled with thoughts of peace, of home and of citizenship. Why this love of home, intensified for so many thousands of America's wonderful boys, by months and months of longing, of self-sacrifice, and of heroic achievement—of large and imperishable in the book of nations? How all hearts and thoughts are bent on home and all these finer influences around which twine our hearts best love. The mystic telepathy of the soldier brings the measure of home in the soldier's mind and in the soldier's heart on the high seas—a message enduring and resplendent with the deepest and noblest emotions of the human heart.

We learn this was written for the Review by William B. Kerrish, one of the staff of K. of C. war camp workers stationed at Camp Devens. Bro. Kerrish is really and truly a craft brother of ours for he is a Canadian newspaperman formerly, and recently returned from hard service in the war area.

SEEN AND HEARD

Often to the bar, seldom to the bank.

A friend remarked the other day that conversation was fast becoming a lost art and an hour later a fellow with a jag bored us for an hour.

There was a time when we all believed that necessity was the mother of invention, but the war seems to have robbed necessity of its erstwhile maternal right.

"The Germans exaggerated their submarine murders as the old settlers exaggerated their fog yarns."

The speaker was a champion flyer of the Hempstead aviation camp. He went on:

"An old settler took a chew and said: 'The worst fog I ever seen was back in '74. I remember I had to go to the henhouse that night, and the fog was so blame thick I had to get the three hired men to push me through it.'"

"I remember that there '74 fog well," said the second old settler, "but it wasn't nothin' to the '63 one. That was a fog! Solid! Why us boys sat on the fence back of the distillery all that day makin' fog balls an' heavin' 'em at the people that went by."—Detroit Free Press.

When the Baby Needs a Laxative---

No one knows better than the ever-watchful mother—the natural doctor of the family in all the small ills—that when the baby is out of sorts it is usually due to indigestion or constipation.

It is always well, in any of its ills, to look for this cause. The diet may have to be changed, but before good can result from it, the bowels must be moved.

The mother has the choice of many medicines—cathartics, purgatives, bitter-waters, pills, physics, etc. But the little body doesn't need such harsh remedies for they wrench the system and do only temporary good, so often followed by an unpleasant reaction.

A better plan is to employ a mild, gentle laxative of which only a little is required. There is a combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin sold by druggists under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin that thousands of mothers have used successfully for baby's constipation and its accompanying ills, such as belching, wind colic, restlessness, sleeplessness, etc.

The nursing mother will also find it ideal for herself, and it is especially important that she be free from constipation.

Syrup Pepsin is guaranteed to do as promised or the druggist will refund the money. Thousands of cautious families have it in the house, secure against the little ills.

Dr. Caldwell's SYRUP PEPSIN The Perfect Laxative

PRICE AS ALWAYS

In spite of greatly increased laboratory costs due to the War, by sacrificing profits and absorbing taxes we have maintained the price at which this family laxative has been sold by druggists for the past 26 years. Two sizes—50c and $1.00.

If you have never used Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin send for a free trial bottle to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 468 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. If there are babies at home, ask for a copy of Dr. Caldwell's book, "The Care of Baby."

HOW TO KNOW PURE CASTILE SOAP

For years people have been deceived by many so-called Castile Soaps because neither the scent nor eye detect the imitation. Pure Castile is of white texture, made from pure Olive Oil only; cake doesn't turn rancid—a shriveled cake denotes excess water.

Leco is firm and solid, made from pure Olive Oil—a product of 112 years expert soap making by one family in Spain—an absolutely pure Castile Soap. Try it. ALL GOOD DRUGGISTS SELL IT. LOCKWOOD, BRACKETT & CO., BOSTON Sole Importers of Leco Castile Soap

No Luck for Him

This child won't play or smile. He is real sick. His tongue is white, breath feverish, stomach sour. He fears he is in for a dose of awful castor oil, calomel or pills. How he hates them. He would rather remain sick. No! He won't tell mother!

If his mother would only learn the value of candy "Cascarets." How children love this candy cathartic—how surely it acts on liver and bowels.

TO MOTHERS! Each ten cent box of Cascarets contains full directions for dose for children aged one year old and upwards. Nothing else "works" the nasty bile, sour fermentations and constipation poison from the tender little bowels so gently, yet so thoroughly. Even cross, feverish, bilious children gladly take Cascarets without being coaxed. Cascarets taste just like candy. Cascarets never gripe, never sicken, never injure, but above all, they never disappoint the worried mother.

Meat Athletes

Be you a meat athlete? How so, Jasper? Combining sport with fodder! Hark, and bend your absorbing sound gaze in our direction. The show tournament commences. Plates full, the athletes begin the meal marathon. First one through throws the discus for a second helping. High dive and 60 ft. under water swim through the soup. Javelin fork throws at the bread. Throwing the hammer knife for the butter. Low hurdles over heads, for the salt and pepper. Then a 100-yd. dash through the course. Wind up with a tug-of-war for the last piece of cake, and a coffee trap shooting contest, using the saucers as clay pigeons. Highest amount of sips wins. Next a game of quits with the napkins, making ringers in the holders. Then a hop-skip-and-jump for the evening paper, or a 20-round chatter bout. There you have it, my boy. The Olympic meal game.

A former pitcher in the now defunct Northwestern league who sought peace and quiet in a Seattle shipyard was discussing the war and kindred topics during a breathing spell one day. This hurler is well known for the speed and "stuff" he gets on the ball, but is not credited with more gray matter than the law allows.

This latter circumstance possibly accounts for his end of the following conversation:

"This war sure has changed things around some," opined the ball player. "How now?" queried his friend.

"Well, you take England, for instance. England always had a king

Age and Youth

There was just one vacant seat in the train when they came in. To a casual observer they might very well have passed as father and daughter.

Only her clothes were just a shade too gay to pass muster under the strictly appraising eye of a parent, and the interest with which he fairly surrounded her was too keen to be exactly parental. Naturally she took the one seat to be had and naturally he bent over her in solicitude for her comfort. The youth with the tortoise-shell glasses who sat beside her stooped in the unsophistication that comes with reading ancient tales of chivalry saw nothing, however, but a gray-haired man bending over a charming young woman, and with the instinct born of years of training, that demand respect from youth to age, he arose and offered his seat to the latter.

The trouble was that the latter didn't want to be considered old. In fact he was making a violent effort to appear young. He refused the seat and gently nudged the boy back into it. The youth didn't understand and pressed his offer. Again the man with an assumed sprightliness demurred and turned with a wry smile to the girl. With the will-power that would have brought him success in any other project, the bespectacled youngster turned to the girl at his side and in a high-pitched treble implored her to ask her father to be seated. He knew how hard it was for a young person to stand and could appreciate what an ordeal it must be for an old man. He meant well—he meant so very well. He didn't see at all why the young woman suggested the next car or why the man threw him a murderous glance as he tremblingly escorted her out. The eyes and the expression of the boy's face were one big question mark. For a moment he puckered his features into an agonizing attempt to understand the cause of it all. But the train was going from New York to New Jersey and knowledge was slow coming. With a sigh that bespoke the depths of doubt in which he was wandering he turned again to the pages of the book in his hand and was soon lost in the world with which he was more familiar.—New York Evening Post.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY OBSERVANCE

"Rebecca's Triumph," a three-act drama, will be given in the town hall in North Chelmsford Monday evening, March 17, in observance of St. Patrick's day, the affair to be presented by young women and under the auspices of St. John's parish. Miss Veronica Lova has general charge of the play and she is being assisted by Mrs. John P. Walker and Miss Maud Heaney, the latter being in charge of the music. It is expected a good attendance will be on hand.

This Is Worth Reading

Thousands have been relieved of Indigestion, Stomach and Liver disorders by SEVEN BARKS; the following extracts from testimonials voluntarily given, prove our assertion.

For the past 20 years SEVEN BARKS has saved me many a doctor bill. Have found it a most excellent remedy for Indigestion and kidney trouble.—L. A. Ames, Prospect, Maine.

For seven years I was troubled with stomach trouble and rheumatism, could get no relief. SEVEN BARKS helped me wonderfully, and I will never be without it. In fact, it is a doctor itself. Since using SEVEN BARKS I eat well, sleep well, and feel like a new person.—Mrs. Mary E. Sturgen, Sheldon Springs, Vt.

I have used SEVEN BARKS and it cured me of a very bad case of Constipation, and Indigestion. I was all run down, had no strength, could hardly go out doors, etc.; your SEVEN BARKS did me more good than anything I ever tried; it's a good standby and I can heartily recommend it.—Edward Upham, Lynn, Mass.

What SEVEN BARKS has done for others, it will do for you. For sale by druggists. 50 cents per bottle. Don't neglect to try it.—Adv.

TO DEFEND YOUNG HERO

Capt. Joseph F. Gargan
Counsel For Plucky Fight-
er Who Deserted Navy

Private Cornelius F. Fiske, the 16-year-old lad, from the Bronx of New York, who deserted the navy when he was but 17 years old to see real action with the Marine corps and who was wounded at St. Mihiel while serving with the 14th Co., 6th Regiment of "Devil Dogs" under command of Capt. Joseph F. Gargan of Lowell, will not be brought before a general court martial on the charge of desertion if the efforts of his gallant commander are of any avail and if the potency of legal training combined with a heartfelt admiration for his client, born of mutual service in the "big shows" "over there" are sufficient to enable the Lowell officer to bring about leniency in the hearts of the higher-up navy officials.

Capt. Gargan showed an enviable record of accomplishment during the 17 months that he was on the firing line as a commanding officer of the United States Marines. And he is determined to bring forth at least one more accomplishment in a short while, if his determination as expressed today may be taken as a criterion.

The Kid Was Plucky
"That kid was as plucky a lad as you could want," Capt. Gargan said this morning, "and if there's anything I can do to make things easy for him I'm going to do it."

"He has been recommended for general court martial on the charge of deserting from the navy. I understand he enlisted about the time this country entered the war and made two voyages overseas on the President Grant. He had a twin brother in the Marines and this fellow used to write to him, telling of his experiences. On

DRUGGISTS! VICK'S VAPORUB
SHORTAGE OVERCOME AT LAST

The Deal Scheduled For Last November, Which Was Postponed on Account of the Influenza Epidemic, Is Now Reinstated—Good During the Month of March

OVER ONE MILLION JARS OF VAPORUB PRODUCED EACH WEEK

It is with pride that we announce to the drug trade that the shortage of Vick's Vaporub, which has lasted since last October, is now overcome. Since January 1st, we have been running our laboratory twenty-three and a half hours out of every twenty-four. Last week we shipped the last of our back orders, and retail druggists, therefore, are no longer requested to order in small quantities only.

NOVEMBER DEAL RE-INSTITUTED
This deal, which we had expected to put on last November and which had to be postponed on account of the shortage of Vaporub, is re-instituted for the month of March. This allows a discount of 10% on shipments from jobbers' stock of quantities of from 1 to 1 gross. 5% of this discount is allowed by the jobber and 5% by us. We advise the retail druggists to place their orders immediately, so that the jobbers will be able to get prompt shipments to them.

THANKS OF THE PUBLIC DUE THE DRUG TRADE DURING THE INFLUENZA EPIDEMIC

The thanks of the American public are certainly due the entire drug trade—retail, wholesale and manufacturer—for what they accomplished during the recent influenza epidemic. The war caused a shortage of physicians—nurses were almost impossible to obtain—the demand on the drug trade was unexpected and overwhelming, and to this demand they responded nobly. Retail druggists kept open day and night and slept where they dropped behind the prescription counter. Wholesale druggists called their salesmen of the road to help fill orders—hundreds wired us to ship Vick's Vaporub by the quickest route, regardless of expense.

A TREMENDOUS JOB TO INCREASE OUR PRODUCTION
In this emergency we have tried to do our part. We scoured the country for raw materials—our traffic manager spent his days riding freight cars—we shipped raw materials in carloads by express and requested manufacturers to increase their deliveries to us.

But it was a slow process. Some of our raw materials are produced only in Japan—supplies in this country were low and shipments required three months to come from the Far East. Then we had to recruit and train skilled labor. We brought our salesmen into the factory and trained them as foremen. We invented new machinery and managed to launch it on Christmas day, so as not to interfere with our daily production.

144 JARS OF VAPORUB EVERY MINUTE DAY AND NIGHT

By January 1st we had everything ready to put on our night shift, and since that time our laboratory has been running day and night. To feed our automatic machines, which drop out one hundred and forty-three jars of Vaporub a minute or one million and eighty thousand weekly, has required a force of 500 people. Our canteen department, created for the benefit of these workers, served 1000 meals during the month of January alone.

IN MILLION JARS OF VAPORUB DISTRIBUTED SINCE OCTOBER
An idea of the work we have accomplished this fall may be given by our production figures—15,025,976 jars of Vaporub manufactured and distributed since last October—one jar for every two families in the entire United States.

During the influenza epidemic, Vick's Vaporub was used as an external application in connection with the physician's treatment, and thousands of people, unable to obtain a doctor, relied on Vick's almost exclusively.

Literally millions of families all over the country, from California to Maine, and from the Great Lakes to the Gulf, have found Vick's Vaporub the ideal home remedy for croup and cold troubles.

without orders jumped on a truck and went back to the line.

"You've got to hand it to that kid for courage. He was always the first to volunteer for patrol duty in raiding parties."

"Before he got much more action the armistice was signed. Then out he came with his story: 'Captain,' he said, 'the armistice has been signed and there's no more chance of any real fighting. I want to tell you something. I deserted from the navy so that my twin brother wouldn't have anything on me. He was with the Marines and getting a lot of real life. I couldn't stand it so I shipped out with you fellows."

There's the story of Private Fiske and Captain Gargan's connection with it. He had had some of the leading writers of New York present the case to Secretary Daniels and he showed the present writer a copy of the plea he is about to send to Vice Admiral Cleave of the navy, asking that Fiske not be summoned for court martial.

Something About Gargan

As for Capt. Gargan himself, he is resting up at the home of his aunt, Miss Helen Tully of 22 Ware street. His own story is more or less well known. He has been in the Marines for 22 months and 17 of these were spent under shellfire. His right sleeve bears a golden stripe telling of a machine gun wound received at Belleau Wood. He is one of 14 men left out of an original company of 350. Two years ago he was studying law in Chicago and left that pursuit to enlist with the Marines. He landed in France in September, 1917, and got into action in Verdun in a short time. He stayed there three months. Next came a transfer to Chateau-Thierry about the first of June and the story of the Marines there is well known.

About all there was here, the captain says, was bayonet work and most of it was pretty ugly. This marked the breaking point of the German morale, as the Hunns were not "there" when it came to close-up fighting. His division suffered its greatest casualties there and his commanding officer and two lieutenants lost their lives.

Wounded in Leg

Activity next shifted to Belleau Wood and it was here that two machine gun bullets nipped Capt. Gargan's leg. Conditions were pretty bad there and it was no unusual matter to go without food for stretches at a time.

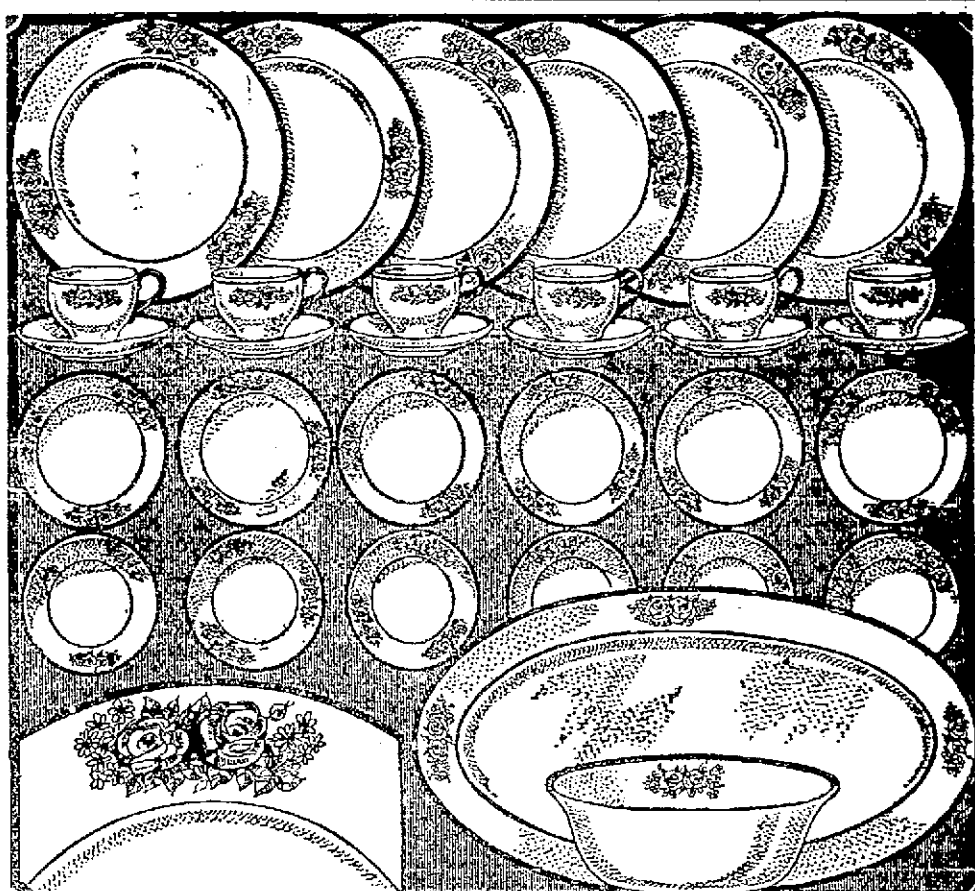

One interesting souvenir which the captain prizes is a gold watch taken from a German, which contains a lock of hair, evidently belonging to some one cherished by the soldier. Then, besides, he has an iron cross, a saw bayonet, one of the cruelest weapons made, a gas mask and a steel helmet. Following his wound, Gargan was compelled to remain in the hospital seven weeks. At the end of this period he was sent back to the line at St. Mihiel, but stayed there only a short time when he was recalled to Paris to become naval attaché to the staff of Rear Admiral Long. He had very interesting experiences in this position and one of them was being present at a dinner given to President Wilson and most of the famous allied generals by Ambassador Sharp. Such notables as General Foch, Marshall Joffre, Sir Douglas Haig, General Pershing and General Britain were there.

Took Few Prisoners

In speaking of the Germans, the captain says that the Marines did not believe in taking them prisoners. It was a case of fight or die, usually. In many of the raids a large number of Germans would be killed and only one allowed to live so that he might give information.

The captain left Brest early in February for home. His present orders call for his going to Russia but he hopes to have these changed in view of his long service and his being wounded. However, an officer of the U. S. Marines is in the service for life unless he resigns during peace times and even at that his resignation is not accepted if he has any kind of a record. Capt. Gargan expects to go to Washington in a few days in con-

BIRTHDAY PARTY

A very pleasant birthday party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred L. Davis, Sunday in honor of their little daughter, Miss Esther Davis, the occasion being her seventh anniversary of birth. About 30 of her little friends gathered and showered her with many useful gifts. "Our Flag" was recited by Master Vernon Morris and solos were given by Miss Margaret Kearnes, Miss Ruth Rothwell, Master Peter McQuillen and Master Terrence O'Rourke. There was dancing by Miss Marion Howarth. A buffet luncheon was served by Misses Loretta, Grace and Cora V. Davis, and Kittie Lee. The party broke up with all wishing the little hostess many happy returns of the day and all singing "The Star Spangled Banner." Miss Leona A. Spellman was the accompanist.

Net Earnings For 1918 Were
$54,293,016 — President
Vail's Statement

NEW YORK, March 10.—The net earnings of the American Telephone & Telegraph Co. for 1918 were $54,293,016, according to the annual report issued yesterday. Deduction of interest charges left a balance of $42,901,321 available for dividends which was an increase of $5,420,215 over 1917. The surplus for 1918 was $3,671,622.

Reporting on the subject of "Communication and regulation" Theodore N. Vail, president of the company, says: "It will be extremely unfortunate if with a very pronounced public sentiment in favor of it, a wire system with nationwide, universal, comprehensive service and complete utilization of all the facilities, cannot be evolved from the existing conditions."

"There is no reason, providing we have rational control and regulation of government ownership, to fear government ownership but without a rational, effective control, which will regulate but not restrict, control but not destroy utilities of necessity, government ownership is inevitable."

"There is little doubt remaining in the minds of the public but that regulated monopoly is better than unregulated government ownership, and there is no longer any extensive conviction that there can be effective competition in the electric transmission of intelligence."

Mr. Vail presented also in the form of a diagram, an argument for an increase in telephone rates. The diagram shows the increase in commodity costs and wages while telephone rates have remained almost stationary. Compared with the price of commodities in general, the rates have decreased 30 per cent, it is pointed out.

"About 12 per cent increase in rates

is needed," says Mr. Vail, "which appears almost negligible when compared with advances in the cost of other commodities."

EXEMPTION PROVISIONS FOR MARRIED PEOPLE

CHICAGO, March 11.—An extension of the exemption provisions of the income tax is contained in a ruling by Commissioner Roper, made public here today. It is that the exemption for wife or children covers the whole year 1918 even if marriage took place or the child was born on the last day of the year.

NEWARK, N. J., FACES BIG TRACTION STRIKE

NEWARK, N. J., March 11.—A strike on all the traction lines of the Public Service Co., operating in northern New Jersey, was ordered today to begin at 4 a. m., tomorrow, by the state headquarters of the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employees.

MERRIMACK RIVER HEARING FRIDAY

Special to The Sun
STATE HOUSE, Boston, March 11.—Plans for conducting the big Merrimack river development hearing next Friday were discussed yesterday afternoon at the state house, during a conference of the Merrimack valley legislators.

Nearly all of the senators and representatives from the valley cities and towns were present, and others who joined in the conference were Congressman W. W. Larkin of Essex, who represents the sixth congressional district in congress; Andrew B. Sullivan of Lawrence, one of the members of the critical river development commission; Richard Ward, president of the Essex county board of trade, and William G. Fisher of Newburyport, president of the Business Men's association of that city.

Mr. Fisher reported he had conferred with the senate and house chairmen of the committee on harbors and public lands, before which the hearing will be held, that the proponents of the $3,500,000 appropriation bill will be given all the time they want for presenting their arguments, and that the committee will obtain a room large enough to accommodate all who may attend, even though the largest room in the state house is required. He also announced that Congressman John Jacob Rogers of Lowell and Michael F. Phelan of Lynn will be present without fail, to lend their support, both moral and oral, to the development plan.

The hearing is scheduled for Friday of this week, at 10:30 in the forenoon, and unless an unexpectedly large crowd is in attendance it will be held in room 436 of the state house.

WAR TRADE BOARD REMOVES RESTRICTIONS ON IMPORTANT EXPORT LICENSES
WASHINGTON, March 11.—Individual import and export licenses for the colonies, possessions and protectorates of Great Britain, France, Italy, Belgium and Japan, will no longer be required, it is announced by the war trade board.

The board also removed restrictions of the importation of peanuts when shipped from the country of origin. This ruling does not apply to shipments of peanuts stored in Canada, unless they were purchased and paid for prior to April 14, 1918.

AMUSEMENT NOTES D. E. KENT'S THEATRE

A singing comedienne, plus—best describes Lillian Shaw, the talented accomplished character actress who is awarded first position on this week's bill at Kent's theatre by her real knowledge of human nature. Miss Shaw could easily make a living by her ability as a singing comedienne; she is wholly sufficient in such a role. But as a character sketcher she steps out of the more or less restricted avenues of comedy work into the more serious realms of depicting human nature in all its moods—joyful or otherwise. Miss Shaw is partial to the Jewish type. She evidently knows and has studied this nationality more than any other, although her Italian character study last evening was exceptionally

Distressing Complaint

WASHING.
"I had an attack of Weeping Eczema; so bad that my clothes would be wet through at times. I suffered terribly. I could get no relief until I tried 'Fruit-a-lives' (or 'Fruit Liver Tablets') and 'Sootha Salva'. The first treatment gave me relief. Altogether, I have used three boxes of 'Sootha Salva' and two of 'Fruit-a-lives', and am entirely well".
G. W. HALL.

Both these remedies are sold by dealers at 50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, or sent by FRUIT A LIVES LIMITED, OGDENSBURG, N.Y.

"Fruit-a-lives" is also put up in a trial size which sells for 25c.

well done. But it is while assuming the role of a Jewish lady about to be married that Miss Shaw seems right at home. Jewish lady is all attired in her wedding garments but is rather puzzled and fearful of what is to follow. She gives vent to this feeling, and the result is a number of uproar on the part of the audience.

Scene two shows Jewish lady perfectly married. She is in a state of bliss. She has come to the full realization of the meaning of marriage and she does not falter under the burden. She accepts the facts of life and gets comfort out of philosophical rumination on her part in the sun.

Miss Shaw actually lives the character of wife and is convincing in her audience. She is a real artist. When it's time to speak, Miss Shaw speaks; at other times she rolls her eyes or moves her body. They have a language of their own.

Two of the most up-to-the-minute youngsters that have graced the boards of the theatre for some time, Mae and Rose Wilton who, brought down the house last evening with their antics about current happenings. They have a drill strain of music based on the "blues" type that southern sinners like to wail so much. A hundred and one things about present-day affairs give them the "blues" and out they come with their expressions of depression much to the merriment of their auditors.

William H. Macart, a consummate actor and comedian, and Ethelwynne Bradford present an entertaining sketch entitled "Love, Honor and Obedience." Instead of the lady in the case being the one to make this vow at the marriage ceremony, friend husband is called upon to be the bridegroom, and how this transposed condition of affairs actually works out in married life makes up the nucleus of a very enjoyable sketch. Both players, and out they come with their expressions of depression much to the merriment of their auditors.

The Curfew bell rings in the air with nothing to hold them but their teeth and provide thrills in abundance. Their hair-raising work, "In a Drug Store" is an entertaining sketch presented by Wallace & Drew and Swift & Daley open the bill with a novelty musical act.

The program pictures show the return of the 27th Division to New York and the comedy picture is all that it should be.

Seats for the remaining performances of the week may be obtained in advance at the box office. Phone 23.

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE
The theatre-going public of Lowell is certainly being treated to a well-arranged variety of dramas at the Lowell Opera House this season. The efforts of the Emerson Players this week are bent on the successful presentation of an unusual play, full of thrills and mystery, almost until the final curtain.

"Broken Threads," a drama in three acts, from the pen of Ernest Wilson, tells the story of a young minor who, after months of prospecting and hard-ship, finally "strikes it rich." He takes a trip to San Francisco in order to raise the necessary funds to develop the mines, and while in one of the cabarets he hears a girl singing, and realizes that at last he has met the "only girl." But on the night when they were to have been married tragedy, in the form of the man who had cast a black shadow over the girl's life in her youth, stalked into the room, and before the man could utter a word, the other man lay dead with a neat bullet hole through his forehead, and the other was sitting in a cell awaiting trial for murder. How the man and the girl beat fate at its own game, and finally won happiness, makes an absorbing story, and one that is well told the interest until the final curtain.

The management could not have provided a better vehicle for the Emerson Players than this play. Each and every member of the cast seemed to fit right into the part assigned, and portrayed his or her part just the way the producer intended it to be given. As Dorothy Dettrell, the pretty little cabaret singer who sang her way into the young man's heart, Miss Jane Salisbury adds another triumph to her already long list. She interprets the part in the same inimitable manner, with a confidence and cleverness that has characterized her work ever since coming to this city. Julian Nor as Harry Wynn, whose life nearly goes to smash at that eventful night when instead of being on his way to the little church around the corner he finds himself in a prison cell, handles his part with his usual skill, and surprised even his friends by his clear cut and vivid portrayal of the role assigned him. Others who are helping in "putting over" this thoroughly enjoyable play are: Thomas Carroll, Alice Gordon, Agnes J. Glassmire, Kerwin Wilkinson, Martin Miskell, Arthur Buchanan, Arthur LaRue, Louise Gerard-Huntington and George Bryant Connor.

THE STRAND THEATRE
The patrons of the Strand theatre who will attend the performance this evening will not only enjoy one of the best programs presented at this place of amusement this season, but will also have the pleasure of seeing personally one of the noted film stars, Muriel Oakridge, who has consented to make a special appearance at the Strand.

At the close of the performance, Miss Oakridge will hold a reception in the lobby of the theatre.

The program arranged for the first three days of the week could not be improved upon, at least that seems to be the consensus of opinion at the Strand. Just in case of a performance, quantity and quality are the predominant

FREE FOR THIS VISIT

Never before has such an opportunity been given the sick of this vicinity, and if you are suffering, you should not fail to take advantage of it. Those wishing to see him should remember the Days, Dates and Office Hours of his visits and call early to avoid the crowded last hours.

For nearly 15 years I have been studying the Chemistry of food and the Chemistry of the human body. I have put these two sciences together and formulated the science of Applied Food Chemistry. By the application of this knowledge I cure all forms of stomach and intestinal diseases, and all other disorders that result from wrong eating and drinking. This method cannot fail because it conforms to the laws of Nature.

It is estimated that ninety-two per cent. of all diseases are caused by errors in eating. These errors are made by wrong selections, wrong combinations, and wrong proportions of food. I teach you how to correct these, how to select, how to combine and how to proportion your food according to your age and your occupation. This cures by removing causes. It gives Nature a chance. This is the true science of human nutrition, and it is governed by laws as infallible as the laws of gravitation. If you obey them you cannot be sick. If you do not obey them you cannot be well.

You have no idea what your body is capable of, until you have it perfectly nourished. You have no idea what your mind is capable of, until it lives in a perfectly nourished body.

DR. NAUGHTON will positively be at the New American Hotel Wednesday, March 12th, from 10 o'clock in the morning until 7 o'clock in the evening to consult with and examine all cases personally.

inating notes and nothing has been spared to make this week a notable one in the history of this popular theatre.

First is shown the well known and favorite film star, Corinne Farrar, who appears in a delightful creation entitled "Shadows," a highly attractive picture in which the able artist finds ample opportunity to demonstrate her rare talent. The story of the play deals with Frank Crutcher, a promoter, looking for capital to develop a spurious mining prospect of Nevada and who in order to attain his aim, seeks to seduce Judson Barnes, a man of standing in the community. Barnes' wife warns him against Crutcher, but the latter recognizes the woman as a former dance hall habituée of Alaska and he warns her by telephone and threatens the exposure of her past life. The woman becoming frightened, feigns a change of mind and urges her husband to enter the deal. Judson goes to Nevada but before the deal is put through his wife comes to the rescue and a very interesting and exciting scene follows.

The second number on the program is "The Unwilling Hand," a World Picture offering of rare merit featuring in the stellar role Kitty Gordon, another Lowell favorite. This relates a striking story of a man's cowardice and a woman's faith. It deals with the daughter of a college professor who becomes engaged to a young instructor of the place. He plans a trip to Africa on the ground that relief of an invasion made by the Greeks can be found, but he will not go unless his sweetheart accompanies him. The girl finally consents to marry him so that the trip can be made, but in Africa the young man demonstrates that he is a thief and a coward, and what follows is indeed very interesting.

In addition to these two well balanced film productions there is also a two-part Vitaphone comedy, a series of views by the Universal Weekly and other enjoyable numbers. The sales for the week is a Lowell young woman, Miss Clemence Simard, whose rich voice has been appreciated on many occasions in this city.

BOYS ARRESTED FOR CAMP BREAKING

Officers O'Brien and Livingston of Billerica went to Charlestown yesterday and returned with three young prisoners, who were booked at the police station on charges of breaking and entering and larceny. The boys were later permitted to return to their homes with the understanding that they will appear at the juvenile session of the police court next Friday morning.

The boys gave the names of Francis Daly, William Morris and James Brennan, and their ages 13, 14 and 15 years respectively. They are charged with breaking into the camp of Capt. Charles F. Winship at Nutting's lake in Billerica and stealing therefrom a victrola, a folding camera, a clock, numerous tools and other articles, including a tea kettle, which later gave the officers a clue as to the identity of the young thieves.

The camp of Capt. Winship, a sort of summer residence, was broken into

February 8, but the break was not discovered by the owner until a few days ago when the matter was reported to Officers O'Brien and Livingston. The Brennan family owns a camp on the shores of the lake and a couple of days ago some of the boys of the district while looking through one of the windows of that camp, saw a tea kettle on the table and recognized it as that of Capt. Winship's and the officers were immediately informed of the discovery. Information then revealed the fact that the Brennan boy with two companions spent the night of February 8 at the Brennan camp and with this clue in hand the officers yesterday went to Charlestown, and so they claim, had the Brennan boy confess to the break and he also implicated his two companions, Morris and Daly. The little chaps, so the police allege, also admitted breaking into the store of Mr. Perry at the lake on the same night and stealing therefrom some cigars and tobacco.

DIES OF BULLET WOUNDS
PORTLAND, Me., March 11.—James J. Brant died today from the effects of self-inflicted bullet wounds, which ordinarily would cause almost immediate death and poisoning, after a remarkable fight of two weeks to recover. He was taken to a hospital after he had shot and slightly wounded his wife, it was alleged, at the corner of Fore and Franklin streets.

An examination disclosed a bullet hole in the diaphragm and that bullets had pierced his stomach, his liver and cut the intestines in three places.

SALEM, 13 TO 4

SALEM, March 11.—Salem beat Lowell here last night, 13 to 4, in the Polo league series. The superior team work of Salem was too much for the leaders. Kid Williams and Alexander were the big scorers for the former, scoring seven and Alexander five goals. Markins and Pence starred for the visitors. The summary:

SALEM	LOWELL
Alexander 11	Hart 1
Williams 7	Williams 2
Markins 7	Griffith 1
Pence 5	Griffith 1
Griffith 1	Griffith 1
Griffith 1	Griffith 1

Worcester, with "Jigger" Higgins and Lee Taylor on the rush line will play Lowell at the Crescent rink to night. This announcement means that a treat is in store for lovers of the game. Taylor and Higgins are a great pair of offensive men, and their opponents to go the limit to keep them in check. Taylor is a big fellow and has the pace of a steam locomotive. Higgins is a smaller fellow, but he is a real hustler. Both are fast and the one that wins the race knows he has been in a contest. The referee for the game will be to see how "Bob" Griffith covers the famous "Jigger".

We were very glad yesterday to correct the error which stated that Providence had played its last game of the season here on Friday night. The scheduled game between Providence and Worcester was postponed to Saturday night. This will be pleasing news to the fans, for all games between Lowell and Providence are clearly contested exhibitions of scientific polo.

POLO AVERAGES

Kid Williams of Salem led the goal scorers last night, scoring 7 goals. The "Red" of Lowell was second with 5. Hart Williams still leads in going to the spot. Providence leads the goal column and all other teams the goal tends by a slight margin over Pence, Blount and Conley, who are tied. The averages, including Saturday's games,

BOXING NEWS AND BOUTS THIS WEEK

Louis Bogash and Johnny Clinton will meet in one of the 12-round bouts at the Armory A.A. on March 18. Shaver, Brown and Eddie Fitzsimmons will meet in the other.

Richie Mitchell and Charlie White have been booked for a 12-round bout for Wed. on March 21. White wanted to make his home-back debut in the east, and seriously considered coming back to Boston about a month ago.

Manchester, N. H. fans will have a chance to see a good fight tonight, when Chick Hay and Al Shubert clash in the feature number.

Mike and Tom Gibbons, the most versatile and cleverest brothers now in the ring, plan to go to England in June for bouts.

Matt Brock and K. O. Mars are going to meet again at New Orleans on St. Patrick's day.

Clay Turner, Indian scrapper, and Jim Hooley will box at Atlantic City on March 20.

Bouts of interest for this week to be held at clubs all over the country are as follows:

Tuesday—Chick Hayes vs. Al Shubert, Manchester; L. Bogash vs. Chick Brown, New Haven; Al Moore vs. F. Mason, South Bend; Oscar Gardner vs. Frank Zill, Youngstown.

Wednesday—Pat Owens vs. Young McDaniel and Al Woods vs. Willie Roberts, Marlboro; W. J. McGoorty vs. A. Townley, Framingham; Frankie Mack vs. Johnny Hayes, Lowell.

Friday—Mike Gibbons vs. L. Rowlands, Denver; Pat Moore vs. F. Trevelyan, Detroit; Chick Hay vs. Al Shubert, Manchester; bouts at St. Patrick's T.A.S., Brockton (amateur).

Saturday—Joie Fox vs. Louisiana, Philadelphia.

ROBSON ALL THE WAY
SYRACUSE, N. Y., March 11.—Tommy Robson of Boston won every round of the 10-round bout with George Chip of New Castle, Pa., here last night.

SCANTON APPOINTED
PITTSFIELD, Mass., March 11.—"Ruek" Daley of Holyoke was knocked out by Fighting "Big Boy" Leonard of Canton, N. Y., in the seventh round before the Twentieth Century A.C. here last night. Logan, who had shadowed Daley in the early rounds, landed a heavy blow to the Holyoke boy on the jaw.

BOUT CALLED OFF
MILWAUKEE, March 11.—The Mitchell-Dunbar boxing bout, arranged for last night, was called off on account of an absence of Dunbar. The eastern lad is said also to have developed a fever.

THE SAVIORS OF FRANCE

Miss Clement Tells of the Lives of Marshal Foch and Premier Clemenceau

In an intimate, fascinating and most informal way, Miss Marguerite Clement of France, yesterday afternoon told the members of the Middlesex Women's club something of the lives of the two greatest men in France today, Marshal Foch and Premier Clemenceau. Foch and Clemenceau, the statesman, both are adored and worshipped by every Frenchman, who looks upon them as the saviors of his country in the military crisis just passed, and looks to them as safe pilots through the stormy sea of reconstruction.

Miss Clement fairly radiates and breathes out the spirit of that great republic across the sea and enthusiastically eulogizes the lives of its great men. She also prophesied that if the progress of the world and mankind is to be assured it will be through a lasting friendship between France and America, a perfect collaboration, the foundations of which are being laid at the peace conference and which will grow to reality through a League of Nations.

Speaking first of Foch, Miss Clement said that he is the greatest, or at least one of the greatest, men of France. "People in France will carve the names of Foch and Clemenceau on every public building, house, school and church in France," she said, "and these two names sum up both sides of French life, the military and the civil."

"Foch is not only a great general, but also a great citizen. He is not only admired by his soldiers, but he is worshipped by them. He was born in the south of France in a little town of 30,000 people, close to the Pyrenees. But he has none of the characteristics of the southern French, who are noted for their incessant talking and, of course, their restlessness. He is a most silent man and when he does talk it is with the greatest brevity. For instance, at the second battle of the Marne he sent back the following telegram: 'Right wing falling back; calm; rest; situation excellent.' He did not think it necessary to explain why he believed the situation excellent when all surface signs were to the contrary."

"At another time, just at the most critical days of the war, after the beginning of the last counter-drive, he gave an interview to newsmen, much against his wishes. Taking a map and pointing with his finger said: 'We are stopping here, and here, and here.'"

Frail, Delicate Child

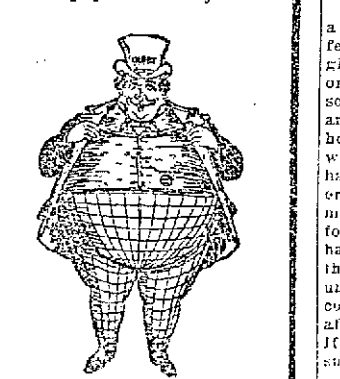

Restored to Health by Vinol
Manville, R. T.—"The whooping cough—and later the measles—of my little boy of eight years was so unappealing, thin, frail, delicate and tired all the time. After everything else had failed, Vinol gave him a hearty appetite, restored his strength and he is now as well as ever."—Mrs. James H. Hall.

"The liver and cod liver neptones iron and manganese neptones and glycerophosphates contained in Vinol were just what this little boy needed to restore him to health. We strongly recommend Vinol."—Adv.

and here; they are falling back there and there, and soon we hope to do better." That was all he had to say, but it did not satisfy the newspaperman, who asked for more. Foch went to the window and looked out at the rain. "Very fine weather, gentlemen," he said, "good for some and not good for others. Good day." The interview was ended as far as he was concerned.

"Did you ever look closely at his picture? At his eyes? All his expression is in his eyes, which are deeply intellectual. His grandfather was a peasant and a wheat merchant, and his father a civil servant. This graduation of three generations runs true in France in hundreds of cases, where the man of the present day has achieved much and his father was a civil servant and his grandfather a peasant. So, you see, Foch is but an ordinary type."

"Foch's grandfather was also a soldier and fought with Napoleon, which accounts for Napoleon being chosen as the Christian name of the present general and his brother. And Foch has appeared so much as the Napoleon of years ago. After attending the high school in the town where he was born, Foch prepared for the polytechnic school. At the age of 18 years he enlisted in the army in the first German war. And as a strange coincidence, Clemenceau also was active in the first German war, not as a soldier, but as a deputy, and neither ever forgot Alsace-Lorraine. After the war and the famous Bordeaux assembly in 1871, Foch went to Nancy and found a German army of occupation there. Today it is an allied army of occupation. Foch knew what defeat was and he felt a part of the great national shame. In Nancy the Germans paraded daily through the streets and their bands played all the German tunes incessantly. Foch detested them and they remained in his memory until in the present war, when he went again to Nancy as the head of the famous Iron division of France, and on the day of his entry ordered a huge military band to play French tunes for 24 hours, to silence forever in his memory the echoes of those detested German songs."

"After graduation from the polytechnic school Foch settled down in quiet with his family for a time, but soon was appointed the head of the great French military school for the training of officers. And who appointed him to that office? Clemenceau prepared for the polytechnic prime minister. A peculiar situation was involved in the appointment, too. Clemenceau did not believe in the Roman Catholic faith, while Foch was a devout worshipper in that church, and more so, Foch had a brother a Jesuit. When he learned that Clemenceau had appointed him as the head of the school he went to him and asked the reason, knowing that he was of hostile faith, and knowing that Clemenceau knew of his Jesuit brother. The answer of the prime minister was strong, but typical of the man. He said, 'I don't give a damn what your brother is, you will train good officers, and that is all I want.' Foch's military beliefs were radical and unusual. He often said that a defensive war was the only legitimate kind of warfare, always having in mind the consideration of troops. He believes in individual initiative even to the point of saying that there comes a time in the life of a soldier when it is his duty to disobey the orders given him. This is not much like the belief of the German high command. He said that Germany would lose the war because her people believed too much in hypothesis and abstract imagination and that her military leaders lacked common-sense. Foch did not train a man to be a soldier, but rather he trained him to have a fine mind."

"Foch was the first battle of Nancy, which many believe was just as important a battle as the Marne, for he stopped the German left wing there and upset their plans. He intercepted a message passing through the German lines which read, 'Not at any price must the German right wing learn of the fate of the German left wing at Nancy.' Foch was then sent to the Meuse front at a most perilous time, when Marshal French of the English forces had decided to retreat, and persuaded French to stay on for a while. He did and the German advance was stopped. He was sent to land near her armies were in retreat and torn with mutiny caused by German propaganda, and turned the tide by giving the Italian officers and men new confidence."

"Great Foch is a great citizen with a great soul—a man of silence. But few people know how much he has given for France. He has lost his only son in the war, and later his only son-in-law, who he loved very much, and he will go quietly back to his home to find his daughter there a widow. He has given everything he had. No one in France ever thinks or even dreams that Foch, with all his military success, is a dangerous man for the French republic, as some men have been in years gone by. I do not think he will ever come to America unless he feels that the good of his country demands it. He would be afraid of the acclaim, he is too shy. If he ever comes, I will be greatly surprised."

Miss Clement spoke more briefly of the life of Clemenceau, but paid him all the honor due. She said he is an old man, but to a great extent a young man of 78 years. After recently being struck and wounded by two bullets from the gun of a would-be murderer, he was asked by a priest if he were ready to go to God, and his reply was: 'Not yet, thank you, sir.' The 'Tiger' cured himself after the shooting. Miss Clement said, by receiving 49 visitors in one day, much against the advice of his physicians.

"Clemenceau comes from a family of physicians," said the speaker, "and he, also, is one. His father was an old Liberal and was imprisoned twice for expressions of opinion. In 1871 Clemenceau was a member of the Bordeaux assembly. He might have been a patriot that had it not been for the endemics of Alsace-Lorraine. At the time of the Casa Bianca business he received the German ambassador who made an attempt to draw France into conflict with Germany by bringing in his country's terms and saying that if they were not complied with by the next morning, he would take the non-train to Berlin. Clemenceau did not lose his head. 'Excellent,' he replied. 'Why waste your precious time? There is a very good train at 5 o'clock this afternoon.' The German ambassador had met his master, and he did not leave that afternoon, nor the next day. "At the time of the French reverse at Chemin de Dames and many people called for the withdrawal of Foch as the head of the army. Clemenceau stood and talked for him for two hours in the chamber of deputies, and Foch was retained. France considers him a savior, just as Foch, Clemenceau and Wilson are striving for the same thing, a durable peace. The League of Nations will be the salvation of France, but it must be proven safe for her. We won the war, but very, very little, and at times it was but a question of days and hours, and we do not want a chance of it occurring again. We are Germany's next door neighbor and we want our borders made safe. The League of Nations must assure a practical and efficient warranty for France's safety."

Signs of worms in children are: De-ranged stomach, swollen upper lip, sour stomach, offensive breath, hard and full belly with occasional gripings and pains about the navel, pale face of leaden tint, eyes heavy and dull, twitching eyelids, itching of the nose, itching of the rectum, short dry cough, grinding of the teeth, little red points sticking out on tongue, starting during sleep, slow fever.

The safe method for ridding the child of worms is to use Dr. True's Elixir. Mrs. William G. Bonin, of Caddo, Oklahoma, wrote regarding Dr. True's Elixir: "We have used it for our children for the last twelve years and certainly know the value of it. You can buy Dr. True's Elixir wherever medicine is sold. Pleasant tasting—gentle acting. The family laxative and worm expeller for children and grown folks.—Adv."

ADMITTED TO THE BAR

Wm. F. McColough Member of Massachusetts and District of Columbia Bars

William F. McColough, a Lowell young man who was successful in a recent examination for admission to practice law in this state, was today admitted to practice law before the Massachusetts courts. The ceremony took place in the supreme court rooms in Boston. Lawyer McColough is also a member of the bar of the District of Columbia.

For several years he was engaged as a laboratory aid in the bureau of standards at Washington, where Uncle Sam's research and scientific investigations take place. In 1916 Secretary Redfield promoted him to a position in the legal department of the bureau of navigation which has charge of the enforcement of the navigation laws. In June, 1918, Director General Schwab of the Emergency Fleet corporation appointed him to a position with the corporation with headquarters at 303 Broadway, New York, which place he still holds.

Lawyer McColough graduated from the Butler, Lowell evening high school, Success Business college and Carroll's Institute of Washington, D. C. In June, 1918, he graduated with honor from Georgetown university, receiving the degree of LL.B. from that institution.

His many friends in Lowell wish him success as a member of the bar of his home state.

REPORT ON THE LOWELL LABOR SITUATION

Mayor Perry D. Thompson submitted the following report of Lowell's labor situation to the department of labor at Washington during the national conference of governors and mayors held last week at the capital. The report was submitted to Robert W. Babson of the labor department.

The city of Lowell in the commonwealth of Massachusetts is a city located in the valley of the Merrimack river, with a population of about 130,000 cosmopolitan in character among which are Greeks, Poles, Portuguese, Italians and representatives of all the peoples of northern Europe and western Asia.

Stomach Good as New—Four Doctors Gave Her Up

Mrs. Hendricks, Bedfast Five Months, Was Able To Work in Two Weeks

"I was sick last winter for five months with stomach and bowel trouble. Could not turn myself in bed without help. I was under the care of four doctors, and they gave me up. Then Mr. Milks, the druggist, persuaded my husband to try a bottle of Milks Emulsion. The first day I was sitting up in bed, and in two weeks I was doing my own work. When I began taking it, I weighed only 70 pounds; now I weigh 110 pounds."—Mrs. Mary Hendricks, 500 Littlefield Road, Ovenshore, N.Y.

Thousands of people who have suffered for years from stomach and bowel troubles, have found relief, as Mrs. Hendricks did, almost from the first dose of Milks Emulsion. And it is merely temporary relief, but real, lasting benefit.

Milks Emulsion is a pleasant, nutritive food and a corrective medicine. It restores healthy natural bowel action, doing away with all need of pills and physics. It promotes appetite and quickly puts the digestive organs to work assimilating food. As a builder of flesh and strength, Milks Emulsion is strongly recommended to run-down nervous people, and it has produced amazing results in many cases of tuberculosis of the lungs. Chronic stomach trouble and constipation are promptly relieved—usually in one day.

This is the only solid emulsion made, and so palatable that it is eaten with a spoon like ice cream. A truly wonderful medicine for weak, sickly children.

No matter how severe your case, you are urged to try Milks Emulsion under this guarantee—Take six bottles with you and use it according to directions and if not satisfied with the results, your money will be promptly refunded. Price 60c and $1.20 per bottle. The Milks Emulsion Co., Toronto, Canada, Ind. Sold and guaranteed by Fred Howard, Adv.

every laborer in our textile industry was in operation; no one who desired to work had need to be out of employment. In fact, Lowell was a hive of activity and prosperity; all our people were engaged in work necessary to win the war.

At the end of the war cessation of work was inevitable. The problem of the unemployed, for the first time in four years, confronted us; many plants ceased to operate, textile industry operated on short time and a reduction of help ensued. In fine, insofar as the problem of putting the war workers back to work in the beginning of the world war, the city of Lowell has been noted for its large textile industry as well as for its diversified manufacturing institutions.
